FOOTBALL TEAM IMPROVES

On Election Day, Port's seemingly rejuvenated eleven journeyed to Manhasset and, after a hard fought battle, partly waged in almost complete darkness, added a second victory to its meager list, by a score of 12-7.

The game was replete with thrills and it was not until the final whistle that either side could halt its very strenuous exertions. In the absence of Bill Greet, out with an injured knee, Carman, acting captain, played some wonderful football. Due to his regular gaining of from ten to thirty yards at a time, Port was able to defeat their clever opponents.

The teams were playing smoothly enough, without showing any spectacular playing, when Jack Ruggiero, speedy half-back, broke loose through Port's line for forty yards and a touchdown. Manhasset gained the extra point.

Spurred on by this unexpected turn of affairs, the Port eleven got right down to business but were unable to score in the first half.

At the beginning of the third quarter, it was seen that our team had suddenly gained the much lamented pep, which has been noticeably lacking throughout the season. With seeming abandon, Bill Carman punctured the opposing line at will, and after he had gained the three yard line by a magnificent thirty yard run, Evanosky easily plowed through the remaining distance for Port's score.

Port again got within scoring distance early in the fourth quarter but was held by the Manhasset team at the three yard line. The game was being played in almost complete darkness by this time, and, in the gloom, it was dimly seen that Scotty MacVicar was making a hero of himself by blocking Manhasset's attempted punt and recovering the ball just over the line.

Manhasset then received the ball on the kick-off and, by a series of forward passes, worked dangerously close to Port's goal for a touchdown. Port was given the ball on the twenty yard line as the game ended.

PORT DIVIDES TWIN BILL

Defeats Manhasset 12-7. Loses to Freeport 14-6.

Saturday afternoon, at home, the boys played Freeport, a team with the enviable record of but one game lost, by a 6-0 score. Although our eleven lost by a score of 14-6, the game was no cause for downheartedness because the team certainly displayed some genuine pep, ambition, brains, and fight.

At the beginning of the game the ball see-sawed up and down the field with neither goal in danger. As the first period neared its end, Perodsky, Freeport's halfback, went through our line for thirty yards and a touchdown. Hanson kicked the extra point. Freeport kicked off and Port held the ball on their own thirty yard line as the quarter ended.

The second period was all Port. Starting a drive that was reminiscent of better times, the Port eleven rushed down the field. All their plays worked smoothly, quickly and accurately. Greet smashed over the line from the three-yard mark, but as he was tackled, the ball slipped from his grasp and Raff, being wide-awake, fell on the ball for our only score. Port again got within scoring distance in that period, but was held on Freeport's eighteen yard line. Thoman's attempted field goal missed by a few scant inches and Freeport was given the ball on the twenty yard line as the half ended.

In the third period, play was confined to midfield, with each team getting a few yards, losing them, and kicking, until Greet circled right end, in a superb forty-yard run to Freeport's ten yard line as the quarter ended.

The fourth quarter was quite eventful. Port was held to no score on the three yard line, and Freeport's punt was grabbed by Greet on the twenty-yard line. Greet failed to gain and a pass was attempted. Fisher grabbed the floating oval and galloped down the field behind hastily formed interferences for ninety yards and a touchdown. Hanson's educated boot again gained the extra point. Although we lost, as we said before, this was no disgrace. On paper the game is the best we've played. Port made fourteen first downs as compared to Freeport's seven, and the ball was in our possession more than half the time. Freeport managed to get most of the breaks of the game.

Saturday is the big event. We make the long awaited trip to Glen Cove. Why should we waste words? You all know that Glen Cove is our ancient rival whom it will give us much pleasure to beat. Freeport defeated Glen Cove by practically the same score as they beat us; two touchdowns to one. Thus you can see that the game will be no walk-over for either side.

It has been, for many years, the custom in our school to consider the Glen Cove game the most desirable one to win. Last year, if you remember well, the game was the scrappiest one on the schedule and the crowds on the opposite sides of the field wasted no love on each other. This season cannot be labeled a failure if we win from Glen Cove.

The student body should have 100 per cent representation at Glen Cove Saturday afternoon. Your team has gradually improved throughout the season and now presents a formidable front for our traditionally important game. There will probably be a bus to go to Glen Cove and we hope that we shall need more than one to accommodate the crowds. If there is even the slightest spark of school spirit lurking somewhere within you, get aboard the band wagon and help make things hot in Glen Cove Saturday.

Players, we are behind you in this game. We forget everything except that of our team and that you must beat Glen Cove. Go in and fight, Saturday, until you can't stand up, then fight on your back. We must beat Glen Cove! Let this be our war cry Saturday. Beat Glen Cove!

LUNCH ROOM NOTES

Evidently the Lunch Room appeals to those who visit our school, for rather than dining at some restaurant in town they prefer our school luncheon. Last week three more guests were entertained in the Lunch Room — Mr. Kelland and Mr. Wood, of the State Department, and Mr. Schreiber.

CLASS NOTES

At a recent meeting the Junior A Class elected the following staff of officers: Robert Enscoe, President; Randolph Bruce, Vice President; Frances Lippert, Secretary; John Linkfield, Treasurer.

THE FORUM UNEARTHED

ONCE MORE

Sounds rather dubious, doesn't it? But it is true, nevertheless, for the 3B English Class has decided on "The Forum" as a suitable name for their noble selves. Several other names were submitted to the approval of the class but as "The Forum" was used by a class last year it, therefore, appealed to them the most.

ENGLISH GRAMMAR

A letter from the Department at Albany brings the information that after this school year there will be no examination in English Grammar. This means that the present juniors who wish to earn the two counts in English Grammar to count toward graduation must take the extra class in English Grammar during one term of this year.

SENIOR SINGING

We have been pleased by the report that the seniors are doing the best group work in singing during the twenty minute period.

OXFORD-COLUMBIA DEBATE

Ten members of the school have sent for reservations for seats at the Oxford-Columbia debate, which is to take place at Columbia Monday evening. The proposition is: Resolved, that the United States should recognize Soviet Russia.

LOST AND FOUND

LOST — In room 21, a grey suede glove and a fountain pen. If found, please return to this room.

DIPLOMAS EARNED LAST YEAR

Last June there were twenty-six pupils in the local high school who qualified for State Regents Diplomas. The type of diploma earned varied. Diplomas are awarded for earning 72 Regents counts under certain conditions and are listed as Academic diplomas, and as Academic diplomas in classical or commercial subjects. An additional diploma is awarded if a pupil earns enough extra counts to bring his total to 90 counts. Each type of diploma is issued in three grades: 1. The ordinary diploma. 2. The diploma with credit if five-ninths of the counts are earned with marks of 75 per cent or over. 3. The diploma with honor if five-ninths of the counts are earned with marks of 90 per cent or over. The diplomas earned were as follows:

Academic Diplomas

- Richard Butler
- Irene Campbell
- Harold Dalton
- Eliza Defeo
- Ruth Goodale
- Milton Hopkins — classical — 90 count.
- Francis McKelvey
- Elsie ZurWelle
- Academic Diploma with Credit
- Margaret Anthony — 90 count.
- Arthur Blackmore
- Gertrude Crampton — 90 count.
- Julia Fitzsimmons — commercial.
- Nelson Gould
- Helen Greig
- Mary Hopkins — classical — 90 count.
- Eleanor Jacobi
- Alice Larson
- Robert Lovejoy — 90 count.
- Laurence Luey
- Frederick Read — classical — 90 count.
- John Reardon — Commercial — 90 count.
- William Skea
- Rolf ZurWelle
- Academic Diploma with Honor
- Alan Porter — Classical — 90 count.

CLASS NOTES

Freshmen Hold First Class Meeting for Election of Officers

Thursday, the 29th, the Freshmen under the supervision of Mr. Merrill had their first real class elections. Mr. Merrill thinks the Freshmen have quite a variety of nominees. After the election of the president he boldly made his disappearance. He had had enough.

There were about ten nominees for presidency but finally Dorothy Burgess was elected president; Robert Geddes, vice president; Jean Dutton, secretary; David Lippert, treasurer, and Cynthia Newman, cheer leader.

THE 12 PERSONIFIED MODELS

- Mercy Mr. Merrill

SAD BUT TRUE

Miss Farlinger in Intermediate Algebra, when she is trying to impress upon the minds of the students a certain precaution: "When you come to see me in Kings Park, I will be walking about and saying, 'Never cancel terms or drop denominators.'"

The 12B and 12A seniors are combining to give a dance in the Flower Hill Auditorium on Friday, November 20. The tickets will be $1.00 for a couple.

NOTES FROM THE LIBRARY

Despite the fact that much of the library space must be used as study hall, and much of Mrs. Langdon's time and attention be divided between library duties and study hall duties, the library is rapidly becoming a more vital factor in high school life.

The recent work in debate on the amendments and the coal strike have brought demand for recent reference books and for the magazines and newspapers.

The new books of fiction and of non-fiction are being widely read.

As part of the Education Week program, Mrs. Langdon has arranged to have special instruction for the various groups during the twenty minute period. Since there are so many groups, the instruction will be carried through several weeks.

Instruction in the use of books and libraries began on Monday, November 9th. The schedule for the first week is as follows:

- 12B English — Monday — Books, their make-up and use.
- 12B English — Tuesday — Classification of books.
- 12B English — Wednesday — Reference books.
- 12B English — Thursday — Card Catalog.
- 12B English — Friday — Reader's Guide and Bibliography.

All members of the 12B English class report to the library at beginning of the 20 minute period for the above instruction.

The same schedule will be followed with the English 12A Classes beginning on Monday, Nov. 16th.
