Fratry Holds Rehearsal

The last regular meeting of the Fraternity, held on March 1st, was a very important one, for following the business meeting, the Fraternity held its first minstrel rehearsal.

The business of the meeting was rather short, since most of the evening was given over to the opening rehearsal. C. Evansky, chairman of athletics, gave a report on the standing of the Athletic treasury. He also urged that all be present at the game Saturday, March 3rd, when the Fraternity will play a return game with the "New York Collegians." Another report came from "Ed" Gould, who has charge of the sale of megaphones. He stated that he now had a sufficient supply to be sold at future athletic events.

Following a few other short discussions, the meeting was adjourned and all the members were soon found gathering in the auditorium where they were awaited by Mr. Ruth, a most excellent coach; Miss Johnson, our famous music instructor, and a group of selected girls whom the Fraternity boys have asked to aid them in making their minstrel a success.

After an hour of instructions and rehearsing, the first meeting of the group was completed, and, judging from it, the minstrel, to be held on March 30th, will be an overwhelming success.

Explorer Speaks to Students

At the assembly period Monday, the students had the pleasant opportunity of hearing Mr. Clyde Eddy tell of his experiences in traveling down the Colorado River through the Grand Canyon.

Mr. Eddy made up his expedition of college boys between the ages of 19 and 23.

The expedition started down the river during the spring floods. On the way down they encountered many rapids which they successfully traversed. The method by which the boats were piloted down the rapids was explained and accompanied by pictures of the rapids.

The High Heart

On the way some of the boats were upturned. Once after successfully shooting a rapid when Mr. Eddy was recording the fact on a map his boat capsized and the map was lost.

The expedition lost a boat while bringing it ashore. After much trouble it was decided to leave the boat where it was and continue with the men who had been in the boat in the remaining two boats.

The pictures taken by the expedition were shown on a screen. These pictures were in color and the natural beauty of the Grand Canyon was shown.

Anyone who missed the talk, missed something very interesting and those who heard it enjoyed it immensely, judging by their applause.

Play Tonight

Hi! Have you got your tickets for the "High Heart"? This is the night that the dramatics class is going to present the play at a public dress rehearsal here. The members of the cast have been working hard during every rehearsal to get their parts perfected. The play is bound to be a good one because it has a good plot and lots of certain kind of action. Of course this isn't the only play that is scheduled to be given that night. Two practice plays, "The Managers," a comedy of Cape Cod, which is very humorous, and "All On a Summer's Day" are other sketches that some members of the Dramatics class will present.

On Saturday, March 10, the cast of "The High Heart" will journey by way of the "rattler" to N. Y. U. to present the play there as one entrant in the contest. Two years ago we all know this school won first place in the contest with "Jazz and Minuet." Those that saw that play here all agreed that it was very good. We are sure that this year's presentation, namely, "The High Heart," will be just as good a play if not better than "Jazz and Minuet." We all wish the cast best of luck again this year and we hope they will be successful and "bring home the bacon."

It was with great grief that we learned one of our alumni, Christie Walters is confined to her home with an attack of diphtheria. It is hoped that she will have a speedy recovery and will be around soon.

Success

The world is full of successful people. As we look through the magazines and newspapers we read about this man making a great success of an invention or that successful man retiring from business. Our parents tell us that we must do this or never do that, if we want to be successful. How is this success measured? Among our own school friends whom do we consider will make the most successful citizens? In picking out such persons we consider his ambition and willingness to take part in school activities—someone who is always on the job. One who is always shirking work in school is not making the best start possible toward a successful future. Persons having school spirit and enthusiasm for the interests of his school are the ones who will have this same interest all through life.

It isn't then, the amount of money one may have or his ability that makes a success of him, but it is his service to his fellowmen, his sense of honor and the way in which he sticks to his job. All of these characteristics may be acquired during high school days.

Mr. Schreiber Attends N. E. Conference

Last week in Boston there met an organization of which Mr. Schreiber is a member. This is the National Education Association. At this conference there were 20,000 men who are working in the educational branch of our country. Superintendents, principals, and educational supervisors make up the membership of this nation-wide association. Some of these men came from the Pacific coast to be present.

There was such a number of men that they could not meet in one place, but had to meet in groups. For this purpose all the large buildings were utilized, Faneuil Hall, Old North Church, Mechanics Hall and many other historical places.

By a unanimous vote Mr. Frank Boynton of Rochester, New York, was elected president. Another man from New York was chosen to be chairman of the committee on the seventh annual year book. This book is devoted to some phase of education that is taken up in such a thorough way that makes it like a text book in its usefulness.

Some of the foremost educators of the country spoke. Among them was Dr. Lowell, President of Harvard University, and Dr. McAndrews, former Superintendent of Schools of Chicago, at whom one of "Big Bill" Thompson's tirades was directed.

At Mechanic's Hall there was an exhibit of the most modern equipment for schools. Everything usable was shown.

Record Good

Of the 238 regents papers written in January, 203 were sent to Albany. The report from Albany is that 194 were accepted, making an average of 81 per cent of the papers written, accepted by the regents department. This record is good but we hope to make it even better in June.

Explosion Startles School

Last Thursday there was considerable excitement through the school. During the first part of the morning a rumbling explosion was heard.

The cause for this was the fact that a great deal of the oil vapor from the furnace accumulated before the electric current came on. When the juice ignited the vapor, there was so much of it in the boiler room that it blew out through the window and door. This was all the damage that it caused.

If it had not been for the fact that the vapor was confined there would have been no explosion and the school would have known nothing of it.

Boys Drop Close One Rally Falls Short

Last Friday Port lost an uphill fight to Great Neck by 34-27. A large delegation of rooters from each school was present. Port put up a game fight, twice coming from behind to within one point of the lead. In the last quarter, Port needed only two baskets to put them ahead. Their attempts to break up the defensive play gave Great Neck another opportunity to score.

Port got off on the wrong foot, making only four points in the first quarter on a field and two foul goals by T. Leyden. Great Neck was taking advantage of Port's poor passwork to run up a 1-4 lead which they never gave up. In the second period Port rallied and pulled up to within one point of the lead. Tommy Leyden had fourteen points to show for his night's work, made two field goals and Jenkins one. Doubles by Fileman and Gruler of Great Neck left the score at 17-12 at half time.

After a long dispute, Ninesling was put out on fouls. The Leyden Brothers made shots, putting Port two behind. Fileman made three fouls but Erb and Jack Leyden both made doubles. A long shot by Great Neck and a short one by Tommy Leyden still left Great Neck a little ahead. Great Neck began to guard closely and Port could not break up the same type of playing that they used to such good advantage against Hicksville and Manhasset. In frantic attempts to get the ball in their possession, our boys left the goal unguarded and paved the way for two more Great Neck tallies.

Girls Lose Tough One 42--36

The Port Girls dropped a tough game to Great Neck last Friday by the score of 42-36. The forwards, led by "Pee Wee" Rice, made more points than they had before this season. Brown was the star of the Great Neck team, making 26 points in three quar-

Sophs Lead In Interclass

The Sophomores broke a triple tie among the Seniors, Juniors and themselves by a 30-12 victory over the Freshmen. The Sophomore second team played the whole of the first half and led 5-2. As soon as the regulars went into the fray the score mounted. The Freshmen, who have yet to win a game, were handicapped by the absence of Captain DeMeo and by a shortage of players. The Sophomores fell six points shy of the Juniors' record for high scoring. The next game will be between the Seniors and Juniors. The winner will go into a tie with the Sophomores for the lead and the loser will drop out of the running.

The Junior girls strengthened their lead in the girls' league by downing the Sophs 17-5. The Juniors discovered a new star in Beulah Guilford, who made a large percentage of her team's points.

ters. She made a basket every time she got the ball.

The Port girls seemed to have gained lots of pep in their three weeks rest, for they jumped right off into the lead. Carmichael made the first basket and then the Zurlis to Rice to the basket combination came into play. M. Gruden tied the score for all, but again Port had a slim lead at the quarter. In the second period Rice made three goals on passes from Zurlis. Brown made both of Great Neck's baskets in this quarter, leaving the score 22-16.

Great Neck Catches Up

The play speeded up after the intermission and both teams made baskets with surprising regularity, but Port still held a 32-26 lead at the beginning of the last quarter. The Port guards could not stop Brown who tied the score with three field goals. Then Great Neck forged ahead. Rice tied it up for Port. The game had to be stopped until the cheering died own enough so that the referee's whistle could be heard. With three minutes to go, Port's defense cracked and Great Neck made the field goals that were the margin of victory.

Port Entertains Roslyn Last Game

Port closes their basketball season by playing Roslyn here on Friday night. Port has a very unusual record against their opponents. When Port has lost the first game, it has almost always won the second and vice versa. The ignominious defeat at the hands of Westbury will not discourage Port any because Westbury beat Roslyn by an even larger score. The spectators will have an opportunity to see the two pairs of brothers, the Leydens and the Tusholskis, offensive stars of their teams, in action. The Tusholski brothers made twenty of Roslyn's twenty-five points in the first game.

The girls will also attempt to even the score against Roslyn girls, who handed them a 13-10 defeat. The girls have played only one game in the last three weeks. There was no girls' game with Manhasset and the Westbury game was cancelled because of the mumps.

So dust off your season tickets, folks and help the teams to end the season with a rush.

Thursday the Juniors and Sophomores met for the second time this year on the basketball court in a game which proved to be most interesting.

Beulah Guilford, the Junior's high-scorer, began adding up a score during the first quarter and continued to do so throughout. The Junior guards held the Sophomores down to a 17-5 result with the upper classmen in the lead.

Up to date the Juniors have won five games and lost one, while the Sophomores have not been so successful, having won only one game.

Fratry Defeats Collegians

Saturday night on the home court, with a goodly crowd present, the Fratry Five defeated the New York Collegians for the second time this season.

"Brute" McKinney was high scorer, making fourteen points. The Collegians suffered the loss of one of their original men, but he was able replaced by another "New Yorker." The game was a fast one all the way through. In the last period the Collegians made a desperate attempt to sink a few baskets, but the final score stayed 39-29 in favor of the Fratry.

After the game the "Frats" and members of the fair sex held their second rehearsal for the Fratry Minstrel. From all appearances it's going to be a bang-up show.

The Line-up.

Fratry: Mallon, r.f.; McKinney, l.f.; Smith c.; Raff l.g.; De Meo r.g.

"An Answer"

Dues! Dues! Dues! Perfectly true! But whose fault is that? In the first place the classes voted for twenty-five cents a month. If they didn't intend to pay it, or thought it was too much, why wasn't there some objection? In one home room one person objected for the good of the class and not for herself as she has now paid for two or three months in advance.

When the time for the Junior Prom comes around and elaborate preparations are made, there won't be any money in the treasury to pay for them. Then the pupils will ask, "Where's all the money from dues?" The treasurer will answer, "Oh, the pupils didn't pay their dues every month". Now the pupils will scold, "Well, it was your business to make them get it in on time."

As it happens some classes are fairly prompt in paying their dues and there have been only a couple late each month. It is very selfish to wait so long to pay them; it takes the treasurer's time, your own time, and incidentally, Mr. Merrill's.

Please remember the only way to avoid having "dues" yelled at you every day, is to bring them before the treasurer has time to ask you.

Introducing the Meteors

At the boat show at Grand Central Palace last January, at the exhibit of the Milton Shipbuilding Company of Rye, New York, there was shown a member of a new class of sailboats, then known as the Manhasset Bay One Design Class.

This however, was only a temporary name (it's too big a mouthful anyway) and, at a meeting of the future owners of boats of this class, the "Meteor" class of one design sailboats was inaugurated. We already have "stars" in the bay and we will soon have "shooting stars."

Next summer at least eighteen of these boats will be seen on or in this bay. They may be identified by the "M" on the mainsail. The first of these boats will be delivered on the first of May.

The "Meteors" are sixteen feet overall in length and are rigged with a triangular mainsail and jib. They are racy, light sailboats, especially fitted for bay use.

An organization of boat owners has been formed, and a sailing adviser or instructor employed to teach the eighteen or so crews the rudiments of sailing. There are several future owners of these boats in Port Washington, Plandome, Great Neck, and vicinity. A committee has been appointed by the owners to inaugurate rules for the use of the boats. Quite a number of these boat owners have children, so we expect to have many youthful crews under the direction of Mr. Willis, who is to be the sailing adviser.

Reading the Newspaper

Almost everyone reads the daily newspaper. Anyone who doubts this statement should ride in to New York on an early morning train on a week day. With the exception of a few idle ones, he will notice that every commuter is busily reading the paper half the way to New York. It is interesting to notice which section of the paper the man across the isle spends the most time reading or which part the woman with two small children will be the most interested in. Of course everyone has his own ideas about the part of the paper he prefers to read. Some first choose the sport section, others the editorials and still others turn to the stock exchange first of all.

However, there are certain things in the paper which everyone should read whether they be first or last. One of these things is the front page. On this page the headlines are of great importance. In some cases it is necessary only to glance at the headlines to keep in touch with the latest developments. One or two headlines are sure to catch your attention and you will read them out of curiosity. I think it is all right to do this, but there are many things one should read whether they arouse your curiosity or not. Everyone should follow the presidential campaign, the accomplishments of Lindbergh and topics of international importance. Many people overdo the matter of newspaper reading for there are many things in every paper that are not worth while reading such as the latest divorce case or suicide.

Although it is a waste of time to spend an entire evening reading the daily paper, it is, without doubt, important to read certain parts for information as to what is going on in the world.

Exchange Notes

"The Youngest" by Philip Barry will be given by the students of the Glen Cove High in March. We hope it will be a great success.

The Westbury High School has entered the Fifth National Oratorical Contest for secondary schools.

The Saugerties High School has reached the 100 percent mark in savings. As a result of their thriftiness, they will have their picture taken for the National Savings Paper, the Gazette.

The rifle team of the Brooklyn Technical High School received the Whitney Trophy, given to the high school whose rifle team is the winner of a contest held annually.

The Morristown High School will again be a participant this year in the Times Oratorical Contest.

A Radio Club was formed by students of the Lynbrook High School. We hope this club will be supported by all students interested in radios.
