Lem Double Winner As Port Takes Second At Farmingdale

Convention Held

Variety in our assembly program was shown last Friday, when several members of the History C classes took part in both a Democratic and Republican convention.

Patty Miller, chairman of the assembly, told something of political conventions and how nominations are made.

The chairman of the Republican convention, John Erickson, then gave the Republican ideas of Taxation, Prohibition, internal commerce and other planks in the platform.

Donald Reid nominated George Norris of Nebraska, after which he told of the life and platform of his candidate.

Myra Grant then nominated Herbert Hoover from California and Eleanor Bessel named Frank Lowden from Illinois.

After the voting of the Republican convention, Mary O'Neill gave the Democratic views on the issues of the day and called the roll. Tommy Newman nominated Robinson. From New York, Margaret Dunn gave the points in favor of Alfred Smith. Tommy Allen nominated James A. Reid.

The conventions were adjourned after the voting. The result of the voting in favor of Hoover and Reid was soon afterwards posted on the bulletin board.

Fratry News

The last regular meeting of the Fraternity was held on Thursday, May 24. At first it seemed as though the meeting would be rather slow and uninteresting, but it wasn't long before a heated discussion arose as to whether the annual banquet should be stag or otherwise. It was decided at the previous meeting that girls should be allowed at this banquet, but a number of members had changed their minds. The question was again put before the club.

The Fraternity seems to be producing future orators, for, during the course of the evening, quite a number of members with their shirt sleeves rolled up, were debating furiously. Bob Hubbard introduced a new manner of debating in order to inspire fellow members. It was decided that the banquet should not be stag.

A banquet committee, consisting of Moore, O'Neill, Terrell, Bansch, Evansky, Hutchinson, and T. Newman, was appointed to find a suitable place and to prepare for the occasion. It was decided to hold the banquet on the evening of June 26.

Lem Goes Up-State In Two Events

At the Farmingdale Meet Lem Lovejoy won first place in both the running high jump and the running broad jump. His height in the high jump was 5 ft. 9 in., and in the broad jump it was a leap of 21 ft. 4½ in. that won. He tied with White of Southampton for the individual honors.

Port was represented among the places by three other men. Neusel came in second in the 440. Williamsen drew his second place in the half-mile. Polk, with his vault of 10 ft. 2 in., got a third place in the pole vault. There were other entries but they did not place in the finals.

The points that these men gained gave Port second place in the meet. Southampton was first with 34 points and Port got 18 points. This is a good showing for the school in the Long Island meet.

Many Speak In Annual Interscholastic Contest

Last Friday evening, May 25, brought to the people of Port Washington the seventeenth annual Interscholastic Speaking Contest.

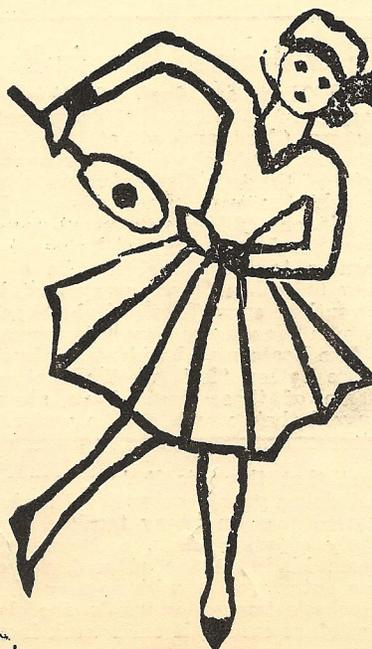

After two selections by the High School orchestra, the first speaker, Nancy Barnwell, stepped before the audience. Miss Barnwell delivered the "Death of Sydney Carton" by Dickens. The next speaker was May Evans, the girl representative of the Port Washington High School, who gave "The Happy Landing Ground," a tribute to Floyd Bennett. This piece was adapted by Miss Gaylord from various clippings. Following this, the "Man in the Shadow" by R. W. Child, was delivered by Gertrude Moore and following this Mary Anthony gave an original composition, "The Lie." The program continued with "The Volunteer's Wife," by C. A. Dennison, given by Dorothy Baylis, and "The Death Disk," by Mark Twain, given by Rose Faraco. An arrangement of "Marmion," by Scott was then delivered by Joan Rikel of Sea Cliff, the girl member of the team which won the cup.

The second part of the program was begun by the Girls' Glee Club, which sang two selections, "Gypsy Love Song," by Herbert and Nevin's "Mighty Lak a Rose."

The first speaker of part two was Edward Epps of Manhasset, who gave a composition by Chatrain, "The Bells." After Mr. Epps, the following speakers appeared in order: Port Washington's representative, William Newland, who gave "A Criminal in Every Family," by R. Weeks; Harold Rolfe from Roslyn, with the selection, "Speaking of Operations," by Irving Cobb; George Henderson from Glen Cove, who delivered "The American City," by Morris Lazarone; James Coope from Great Neck, who gave "Gunga Din," by Kipling; Thomas Devore, Oyster Bay's representative, who gave "The Burial of the Guns," by T. N. Page; and the last speaker was Sea Cliff's other representative, Roger Elton, with the selection, "The Men to Make a State" by Doane.

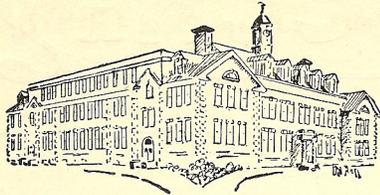

While the judges were deciding the winners, a few cheers were given by the various schools for their respective teams.

Mr. Earl W. Bennett then presented the cup to the representatives of the Sea Cliff High School, who, by the decision, were the best speakers of the evening.

The Pleasure of Work Well Done

During review, one feels the results of work which has been well done throughout the year. One finds that it takes about one-half the ordinary length of time to do one's homework, if the work being reviewed has received one's best efforts before.

This is about the only pleasure one can find in reviews, but it surely is a great one, to know that it takes only about half the length of time that it ordinarily does to finish one's homework. This is a distinct advantage when one discovers that there are two baseball games, a speaking contest, a couple of tennis games and a few other things all scheduled for one week. The knowledge that you can attend a baseball game without worrying about lessons which you will not be able to finish is certainly a pleasure and one that only a few who do their work every day can enjoy.

Even if one is not preparing for Regents, great pleasure can be found in work well done. Who can deny the

Frosh Win Archery Contest

Maryon Birkel Is High Scorer

Last Thursday in the high school gym an archery contest, the first of its kind in this school, was held by the classes. Each class had six shooters who were chosen by eliminations and each contestant had six shots, three at each of two targets.

At the end of this the high scorers, Maryon Birkel, Lucy Keshishian, Lou Kraft, Jac Atwood, Frances Dell, Connie Alexander and Dorothy Williamson shot off for the individual honors. After several ties between Maryon Birkel and Lucy Keshishian, the former won with a high score.

The Freshmen won the interclass title with a final sum of 81 points while the Juniors and Sophomores tied with 69 points.

Port Men Donate Medals

All the contestants that placed in the Farmingdale Meet may be seen wearing sporty medals. These medals were donated by Messrs. Decker, Mc-Carthy and Kelland. Mr. Decker is a present member of the Port Washington Board of Education. Messrs. Mc-Carthy and Kelland are past mem-

Tea Dance Thursday Afternoon

The Celerity Tea Dance, which was to have been held last Wednesday, had to be postponed on account of the baseball game with Sea Cliff. It is going to be given Thursday afternoon, May 31st, at four o'clock. Prices, twenty-five cents for one, and forty cents for two.

New Boats to Race in Bay

On Thursday, April 19, nine new boats of the lately inaugurated Meteor Class arrived at the Port Washington Yacht Club. The appearance of the trim little sixteen-footers delighted many future owners. Mr.
Willis, one of Port's foremost yachtsmen has been employed by the boat owners to teach the juvenile crews how to sail. Nearly every boat has a youthful crew. There will be twenty-two in Manhasset Bay this summer.

The boats may be identified by the large letter "M" on the mainsail.
Some of these boats have already proved their worth on the water.

fact that there is little pleasure in not doing your homework? You have got to face an angry teacher, imposingly giggling class, and exams of some kind. On the other hand, one can enter a class, with no fear of the teacher's temper or words, the class, or future exams, if one's work is well done.

Evanosky Shuts Out

Westbury

Port Wins 4-0

Port played some fine defensive baseball behind Charley Evanosky last Friday and helped him to shut out Westbury, 4-0. Charley gave Westbury only four hits and one base on balls. All of these came in different innings and no Westbury batter got farther than second base.

"Specs" Distler, the Westbury pitcher also allowed only four hits, but two of these grouped in the first inning, gave Port a two-run lead.

Two remarkable catches by Raymond Smith helped Evanosky out of trouble in the first inning. Graiekowski popped to Terrell but Moffett shot a clean single over second base. Distler knocked a long fly which looked like a sure double, but Smitty grabbed the ball. On the next play he ran way to his left to haul down a sock by O'Connor.

Port Scores Twice

Evanosky, first man up for Port, slammed a double to the fence in left field. Smith was called out on strikes but Moore walked and stole second.
On the hit and run play, O'Neill laid down a sacrifice bunt which scored Evanosky and sent Moore to third.
Tins knocked the first ball offered him into left field for a single, scoring Moore.

Leonardo singled for Westbury in the second, but was out stealing, O'Neill to Erb. For Port, Erb walked on four pitched balls and was pushed around to the plate on a steal, a passed ball, and a sacrifice fly by Jack Leyden. Tom Leyden dropped a clean single over second, stole, and went to third on an infield out, but Smith's liner went right into Woodger's hands for the final out.

Squeeze Play Fails

In the third, Port spoiled a fine chance to add to the lead. Moore and O'Neill drew passes and advanced on a double steal. On an attempted squeeze play, Distler served a wide one which Terrell missed and Moore was tagged out at the plate. Terrell's bunt carried too far and he was thrown out at first.

For Westbury, Jagger received a free ticket to first when he was hit in the back with a pitched ball. Graiekowsky walked. Moffett hit a grounder to Tom Leyden, who missed the runner coming from second, but Charley Evanosky came running over from the box to receive a toss in time for a force out. Distler hit another hot grounder to Tom Leyden, who stepped on third, forcing Graiekowski.

The other Port men came in the fourth inning. Erb was safe at first when the Westbury shortstop booted his grounder. He then stole second.
Tom Leyden fanned, but the catcher dropped the third strike and then

Port Second In Long Island Meet

Lovejoy Wins Both Jumps

In the Long Island Interscholastic Track Meet held at Farmingdale last Saturday, Port placed second by winning eighteen points. Southampton retained the title which it won two years ago by gathering 34 points.

Lem Lovejoy tied for individual honors with White of Southampton. Lovejoy won both the high and broad jumps. Last year he went up to Ithaca and placed first in the New York State meet in the high jump. This year he will represent Long Island in both events.

In the broad jump he defeated Lilywhite of Southampton with a mark of 21 feet 4½ inches on his first attempt. This victory is all the more surprising because Lovejoy had not practiced for the broad jump previous to this year.

Lovejoy received a bad scare in the high jump, due to the fine jumping of Harer of Patchogue. The morning rains had left the ground very muddy and Lovejoy could not seem to get the necessary purchase for the take-off. Several times he barely got over the bar, when a miss would have meant defeat. Both jumpers missed his first jump; then Harer missed, and Lovejoy on his second trial, sailed over. Harer missed again, and Lovejoy was the victor.

Neusel and Williamsen Second

In the 440-yard dash, Jack Crickard jumped off into the lead. Swiss Neusel, the Port entry, fell into third place behind Dickinson of Hempstead. At about the 220-yard mark, Neusel made his bid for the lead, passed Dickinson and pressed Crickard hard at the finish. Burns, the other Port entry, fell at the first turn.

Tom Williamsen grabbed the lead in the half-mile after the first turn, but dropped back to third place at the end of the first lap. With half a lap to go, he pulled up to second place, but could not catch Thomas, the negro runner from Lawrence.

Polk Third In Vault

Cletus Polk, Port's vaulter, won two more points by placing third in the pole vault. Polk, MacKenzie of Sayville, and Godbee of Southampton, all missed twice at 10 feet 3 inches. Polk missed his third try, but the other two went over.

The mile run was won by Mac Gurn of Southampton in exactly five minutes. John O'Neill finished about in the middle of the pack.

In his heat of the 220-yard dash, Art Allen picked out a fast opponent, White of Southampton, who won the event. Art came in second, which did not place him in the finals. Chester Cipriani grabbed third place in his heat. Bob Hubbard finished fourth

Great Neck Visits Port

Next Friday afternoon Port will play Great Neck at home and try to square accounts. In the game played at Great Neck earlier in the season, Port was blanked by Gotoutas, who gave only three hits. Charley Evanovsky also pitched a fine game, but Great Neck got a run in the third and another in the fourth, which were enough to win the game.

Great Neck received a set-back at Roslyn's hands recently by a 4-2 score. This defeat came as a blow to Great Neck's hopes for a championship. If Port can beat Great Neck the championship of the league will probably go to Manhasset.

Port Loses Again to Manhasset 5-2

Diener Yields 3 Hits

Port played the return game with Manhasset last Tuesday and lost to them for the second time this season. After the first game, which was played in a downpour of rain, and was called after 4½ innings with Manhasset leading, 6-5, there was still some doubt as to which team was the stronger, but Tuesday, Manhasset was clearly Port's superior by a 5-2 score.

Diener gave Port only three hits, two of these were long doubles and the third a lucky bunt. Manhasset thumped Evanovsky for 13 solid hits. Port's seven errors helped Manhasset tremendously in the business of scoring runs.

The home team started off well enough when, with two out in the first inning, O'Neill walked and stole second. "Rat" Moore scored him with a hard smash to center.

Port made it 2-0 in the second. Tins led off with another long double to center. Jack Leyden, who got back into the game after a three-weeks' lay-off, drew a walk. In an attempt to catch Tins stealing, the Manhasset catcher threw high to third and another run was scored.

P. Ruggerio Gets 4 Hits

After the second, Diener settled down and Manhasset set to work to overcome Port's lead. P. Ruggerio, who made four hits during the afternoon and took part in all of Manhasset's run-scoring, opened the first inning with a double. Plumer hit a short fly to Moore and Ruggerio was doubled off second. A single by Diener and an error put men on second and third, but Hickoks ended the threat with a strike out.

Manhasset scored three runs in the third inning and went into the lead.

Manhasset added two more runs in the sixth inning to make victory certain. Brown was safe on an error. P. Ruggerio got his fourth hit, a double to right field and Hickok walked filling the bases with none out. Diener hit a grounder which bounced over

Port Trims Sea Cliff 8-2

Last Wednesday, the Port baseball team played its last out-of-town game and beat Sea Cliff for the second time this season. The final score was 8-2. The game was scheduled to be played on the previous Friday, but rain caused a postponement.

Dap Sullivan pitched another fine game, allowing only five safeties. He issued passes to six men, two of whom crossed the plate. The infield was much steadier than it was in the Manhasset game and in spite of the wet and soggy ball, only one error was made, and entirely excusable one by Erb of a hot grounder. Harry atoned for this a minute later by tagging out the runner, attempting to steal second. Both teams scored a run in the first frame. Sea Cliff held Port even for two innings, but in the third Port got the bats going and scored three runs. For Port, Charley Evanovsky singled to left field, stole second and third and came home on Smith's short sacrifice fly. O'Neill pounded a double through the infield, but Terrell raised fly for the final out.

With one out in Sea Cliff's turn at bat, Sullivan walked Zipperean and Hollister. Heath doubled over Smith's head in center, scoring Zipperean, but Hollister was out going to third, Smith to Terrell to Leyden. Burdette followed with another single, but Evanovsky got Hegeman's roller to first in time for the final put-out.

In the third, the Sea Cliff catcher muffed Smith's pop in front of the plate. Captain Moore hit a ball into center and went to third when the ball took a freak bounce. O'Neill hit a grounder to the pitcher and Moore hit Beam hard, sliding into the plate and the catcher dropped the ball. O'Neill went to third and scored on Terrell's long sacrifice fly.

Moore Hits Homer

Rat Moore got his second home run of the season in the next inning with none on base. The ball went over the right fielder's head and into the bushes. In the next inning, Gilbert singled, but was forced by Jack Leyden. Sullivan got his first hit of the year, a single, placing Smith with a single to deep short. Port added the last run in the seventh inning. O'Neill bunted and took second when Evans threw the ball over first. He stole third and scored on a sacrifice by Kurejwo, who batted for Terrell.

The last Sea Cliff run came in the sixth. Hollister walked and Heath raised a fly, which fell safely between Moore and Evanovsky. Hegeman singled through the infield, filling the bases with only one out. Sullivan forced in a run by walking Evans, but he recovered control and fanned Beam. Struck hit a grounder to Evanovsky, who threw to Leyden for a put-out.

Rogo got a second place in his heat of the 220-yard hurdles, but only the first man home got into the finals. The relay team made up of Allen, Erb, Hubbard and Cipriani, finished third which was also position too far back to qualify for the finals.

the infield and went for a single, scoring Brown and Ruggerio. Hickok was put out going to third, and Diener was caught napping off second by Smith, ending the rally.

Port's last opportunity came in the fifth inning when Tommy Leyden dropped a safe bunt along the third base line and went to second when Diener threw wild to first. Evanosky hit a high grounder to Diener, who tried for Leyden at third. Tom was out on a close decision and Evanosky tried going to second, Diener to Plummer to Ruggerio.

In the last two innings Diener mowed the Port batters down as fast as they came to the plate.

American Plays Abroad

A little while ago a translation of "The Butter and Egg Man" was presented in Paris. "The Butter and Egg Man" had been very successful in the United States, but the translation, "Le Gentleman de l'Ohio," was not true to the original and was very unpopular among Americans who saw it, especially to those from the Middle West, because it falsely represented that section.

More recently, in a place much less noted than Paris, a translation of "Where the Cross Is Made," one of the one-act plays of Eugene O'Neil, one of America's foremost dramatists, was presented with overwhelming success at a Flemish opera house in Antwerp. It is no wonder that Eugene O'Neil's works are appreciated at the home land of Maeterlinck, whose works show a marked similarity to those of Eugene O'Neil. The translation was called "Ghout" (Gold).

"Where the Cross Is Made" was presented with success in the Belasco Cup Contest.
