Stop! Look! Listen! Thanksgiving

Next Thursday, the 32 of October, we celebrate the age-old custom of Thanksgiving, commemorating Marco Polo's discovery of America in 1776. We always associate with this holiday the midnight ride of Paul Revere and the Battle of Gettysburg, but do we stop to realize what this day actually means? I doubt if we consider this the one day in all the year when thoughts of universal forgiveness should be uppermost in our hearts and minds. Above all we should be especially forgiving for such blessings as spinach, loving relations, and especially Port Washington High School. After you have read this inspiring and uplifting essay, I feel assured you will do as you always have done.

Unanimous.

S. P. We promise that next week there will be a real editorial to make up for this disgrace.

Fratry Stages Initiation Rites

Celerity Elect Members

A week ago tonight the vibrant sounds of paddling were heard at a Fratry meeting. Among those whose hides were softened were "Red" Curtin, "Chris" Sandy, John Hamilton, "Chippy" Ciminera, John Dunn and Nellis Bronner.

What can be said about this initiation ought not to be mentioned. What other things were given can be.

The Fratry is speculating on buying a movie camera. A man demonstrated a few reels that night which, although not so interesting, gave the Fratrites an idea of how the machine worked.

Before the movies, refreshments were served, consisting of sandwiches and punch. Otherwise the Fratry did not do anything at all last Wednesday night.

Wednesday evening the Celerity held their first social meeting. Several new members were voted in: Katherine Krebs, Muriel Mantell, Katherine Campbell, Constance Caldwell, Mildred Pearce and Mary Read. A new amendment was made stating that varsity letter and numeral men be eligible for the Celerity instead of Varsity Squad. This does not affect the other qualifications for Celerity members.

Refreshments were served by the committee: Connie and Mary Richardson, Katherine Burns, Audrey Cocks, and Mildred Ciminera. Several of the graduates were present: Dot Williamson, Katie Zurliis, Margaret Herbert, and Marjorie Carmichael.

Today, in the assembly, we are going to see a fall-autumn program, which will fit in very nicely with the festive spirits now around school. It is rather a surprise, as a number of pupils are participating in it and as the paper goes to press, the writer is not at all sure about the contents of this program. Autumnal atmosphere and involutions will, most likely, be seen. Thanksgiving being the next day, one can imagine that the program will be in accordance with this. Shall we see the Pilgrims or Indians shooting their Thanksgiving Dinner? This is yet to be discovered.

Last Tuesday, La Tertulia was treated to a real "Bull-fight." As soon as the bugler had bugled his little bugle, the dainty little bull flitted in. He was a coy-looking object with his knock-kneed front legs and bowed hind legs. (Apologies to Larzelere and Border.) After he had been picked and poked by Picador Polk he was flagged and fooled by Toreador Gould. Then, the irate beast was put to death by the great Matador, Ralph Grose.

Seniors Hold Successful Dance

Decoration Idea Original

The Senior Dance of the class of '30 was pronounced a huge success—and how! The newspaper decorations were a great novelty and decidedly effective. Wonder who devised such a money saving scheme. Could it be—? Every one seemed particularly happy (perhaps it was the effect of the funny sheets) and, aided by the peppy music furnished by Gus Vallee and his orchestra, things were kept going at a lively rate. The cakes were delicious and, (come now 'fess up) wasn't that punch just great? Verily, verily, the Seniors have given the Juniors something to think about for their dance!

LANMAN GIVES ALBUM

Leo Lanman has given to the library his stamp album containing over 1600 stamps. This is a very welcome addition to our Stamp Collection.

Three new magazines have been added: Aviation, Theatre and Motorboating. Donald Caldwell is the donor of the last mentioned.

New books received are:

Tarkington—Penrod Jashber.
Collins—Aviation and All About It.
Dickinson—Contemporary Plays.
Marriot—One-act Plays.
Caruso—Wings of Song.
Gibbons—Red Knight of Germany.
Jessup—Modern Short Stories.
Thomas—Woodfill of the Regulars.
Bartlett—Log of Bob Bartlett.
Sabin—Classical Myths That Live Today.

Former Students Star

From the last issue of "The Port Washington News" the staff finds that Carl and Kenneth Roethgen, former students of Port have been successful on the football team at Irving School in Tarrytown. They have played for three seasons on the varsity. This year the team has been undefeated so far. Kenneth is a guard and Carl plays at end.

Game Added to Schedule

One more game has been added to the boys' basketball schedule. On December 13 the team will play the Liberty A. C. of Newark, N. J.

The girls' schedule is the same as the boys', except on the above mentioned date when no game has been arranged for them.

Portites Busy Over Holidays

Juniors Up and Doing

The Senior Hop, Saturday night was a great success. "Jinx" Hotopp was unable to enjoy her decorations as she attended the Fordham-Bucknell game with friends.

Among those present of our old friends were: Frances Greet, Marion Birkel, Marie Smith, Bruce Falconer and Virginia Metzger.

"Rodge" Enscoe was able to dance, much to the joy of the girls.

"Smithy" and Charles Newman went out to the North Hempstead Club dance, while many went to the North Shore, where Barrett Border tooted his "sax" until the wee small hours.

Robert Guilford has "his favorite pastime" at the Hop Saturday night and did you see the Stag Line break up?

Bill Denniston, "Norm" Frost and Bill Anther of Plandome left Tuesday to spend the holidays at the Academy of Staunton.

Adelaide Burdick had as her guest last week-end, Billy Barnett of Floral Park.

John Minick and his famous brother "Bob" were dancing with us last week-end.

Irma Terrell, Mary Stevenson, Mary Lou Halsey, Merritt, McBrian, Glenn Bronson, and Bob Fertig are among those attending the dance tomorrow night given for Betty Bullock in New York. Betty has left Port Washington High School and is attending Miss Temple's School this winter.

Bob Geddes has moved to New York City for the winter, but will probably remain in school here.

Marguerite Thompson is spending Thanksgiving holidays with relatives leaving Port on Wednesday and returning Monday.

Most of our teachers will spend the holidays out of town.

Leo Lanman is going to Washington for Thanksgiving and we hear—to pay his respects to President Hoover. Also it is rumored for a certain other reason such as feminine attraction. Remember us, Leo!

"Dixie" Dean, otherwise Larry, is taking a trip to New Jersey to see a "riot" so he says. Have a good time!

Muriel England, Ruth Miller and Bob White are going to attend the N. Y. U.—Carnegie Tech game on Thanksgiving Day.

Connie Richardson saw "Sweet" Adeline," last Saturday. "Great Day!"

Speaking of "Great Day" "Pepper" Pearce who in her sane moments is called Mildred saw that play last Saturday and reported it as being "simply swell."

Fratry Plans Banquet for Squad

Here's just to give you passing notice that in the near future the Fraternity is giving the boys a banquet to wind up the season. You'll hear more of it soon.

We thought you'd like a variation in form so here's looking at you—
—ZX|vd—

His Excellency, President Gilbert, is undecided which team—the Fraternity or Varsity—should be basketball champs this year and so is holding out on his decision of whom he'll play with.

Many people have confronted us with blank looks on their faces and have asked us what this game football that we've been hearing about lately is all about. We have been fortunate in procuring the following analysis from the Mutual Admiration Society.

Stadium—any bunch of seats that they call front row or reserved if within sight of the field.

A Bowl—a stadium with two or more rows of benches.

Beautiful scenery—what two cows and a row of telegraph poles look like to a radio announcer.

Entrance gate—any door farthest away from the point where your seat is.

Exit—just another application of the Subway principle. The greatest number of people who can get on one spot at one time.

Goal posts—they make them of iron now.

Referee—a guy who gets $100 an afternoon.

Umpire—same only his knickers bag more.

Linesmen—two other guys who get in for nothing.

Enthusiastic spectator—any one not watching the game.

Cheer leader—a fellow who wears flannels in November.

Tackle, fumble, forward pass—something happening that makes the crowd be questioned on their sanity.

Football team—we found out too late to publish it.

It seems there were two Collegians talking to one another across the scrimmage.

Said one: "Say, Buddy, did you ever play wid de Princetons?"

Said the wrestling cham to his opponent: "Did you ever think of using Listerine?"

The reason people commit suicide after a market crash is more probably they've lost somebody else's money than their own.

A very disreputable looking young man in a crushed high silk hat, and somewhat unsteady, presented himself at a lady-friends' door. He was dragging his coat and carrying a bunch of wilted flowers in his hand. He presented his friend with the bouquet.

"Where'd you find them," she asked, "in the gutter?"

"No," he said, "on a door knob."

Port Tramples Glen Cove 19-2

Smith Scores 3 Touchdowns

The Port gridders met the Glen Cove eleven at Glen Cove last Saturday and defeated them by a score of 19-2. Raymond Smith led the team to victory, scoring all three of Port's touchdowns.

Both teams were unable to score during the first frame. In the second quarter a Glen Cove player intercepted a pass and almost made a touchdown. Port threw back Glen Cove's four attempts on the 1-yard line to cross the last barrier, and took the ball on downs. Immediately afterward, however, Port essayed a punt which was blocked and recovered behind her own goal line. This gave the Red team a two point lead over the Blue and White. The first half ended shortly afterwards.

In the second half Port displayed an offense which Glen Cove was unable to check. Plunging through the line for incessant gains, Smith and Polk were greatly responsible for Port's three tallies.

Most of the team played their last football game Saturday. The result indicates that there is no doubt that they were fighting hard to end their football career in a blaze of glory. Despite numerous injuries our veteran players and the material available, Coach Costello has put out a scrappy team.

The line-up:

Port (19)	Glen Cove (2)
Teta	R. E. Medviaski
P. Smith	R. T. Jazwiensky
Lausen	R. G. Fonsberg
Kurewjo	C. Sparacos
Golder	L. G. Malinowsky
Kalinovsky	L. T. Portaro
Jenkins	L. E. MacCarthy
Neusel	Q. B. Waldon
Lafferty	L. H. Kebrey
Polk	R. H. Smallwood
R. Smith	F. B. Murray
Score by Periods	1 2 3 4 Total
Port	0 0 7 12 19
Glen Cove	0 2 0 0 2

Play "Rehearsal" Given

"Rehearsal," the third production of the Red Domino Club, was presented last Thursday before a not so enthusiastic crowd of students. The cast carried on their rehearsals alone and the results certainly showed it. The action was dull and commonplace. The voices did not carry beyond the first few rows.

The next production promises to be a better one. Don't be discouraged by one poor production for the Red Domino Club can do better and will in the near future.
