

College Night Next Tuesday

College Representatives To Talk With Seniors

The annual informal "College Night" will be held in the High School cafeteria on December 10, at 8 o'clock. All Seniors who are interested in co-educational and men's colleges are invited to attend, as they will find the meeting of great interest. Miss Farlinger, director of guidance, has extended invitations to all the colleges in which pupils have expressed interest, and many of these will be represented at this time.

The following colleges are expected to send representatives: Alfred University, Amherst College, Bucknell University, Clarkson Tech, William and Mary College, Columbia University, Cooper Union, Cornell University, Duke University, Hamilton College, Lehigh University, Long Island University, Middlebury College, Nassau Collegiate Centre, New York University, Pratt Institute, Princeton University, Purdue University, Van Rensselaer Polytech, St. Lawrence University, Stevens Institute, Syracuse University, Traphagen School of Fashion, and Tufts College.

Meeting Held Annually

This meeting is called every year to give information about the various colleges to the Seniors. The representatives attempt to explain to the students of the High School the scholastic requirements, campus life, scholarships, and expenses, as well as answer any other questions they might have. As was done last year, the guests will be given tables in the cafeteria, and the students will visit the tables of particular interest to them. At a meeting of all Seniors interested in college, hosts and hostesses were appointed. Also a group of teachers, including Miss Allison, Miss Duffy, Miss Pelton, Mr. Lyons, and Mr. Mason has been asked to welcome the visitors.

Also of assistance to college-bound students is a collection of college catalogues in the library. The library is displaying at the same time a number of college pennants. Sometime in February a tea will be held for Senior girls interested in women's colleges.

Junior Red Cross Collection Taken

The annual Junior Red Cross collection was taken this year on Monday, November 23. In the Senior High School, the total amount subscribed was $11.79.

Room 202 lead the home rooms contributions, which was $1.26. Room 207 and 101 tied for second place with $.98. Room 209 contributed $.80, thus obtaining third place. Each student who contributed received a Red Cross pin.

Seventeen of our faculty members also joined the Red Cross. One dollar was contributed by them as a membership fee.

Rushay To Appear Here December 7

'Land Of Once Upon A Time' Features Sketches

Blix Rushay will present her "The Land Of Once Upon A Time" tomorrow morning, December 7, at 10:30 in the Senior High School auditorium. The program consists of a number of original sketches enacted by Miss Rushay and depicting well-known literary characters. Among her interpretations are Sarah Crewe and Pinocchio. She will also do one or two humorous versions of family life. The program is being sponsored by the Flower Hill Parent-Teachers' Association and the admission of fifteen cents is being charged for children and thirty cents for adults.

Sketches Are Monologues

The sketches are all monologues, but Miss Rushay will be assisted by a piano accompanist. Costume and scenery will be used throughout the performance. Although the performance was primarily planned for the youthful mind, anyone interested in dramatic work should find ample entertainment. Miss Rushay has played at the Hoboken Theatre with the Christopher Morley group in "After Dark" and other plays. Recently she has given her present program in numerous nearby towns with great success, several recalls being requested.

Music Department Presents Concert

On Sunday, December 8, the Music Department of the Port Washington Public Schools will hold its second concert of the annual monthly series. This concert will be held in the Senior High School auditorium at 4 p. m.

The concert will be opened by the Flower Hill Grade Chorus, singing three selections, including a Negro Spiritual. Following the Chorus will be the Senior High String Quartet. The Quartet consists of Robert Lambert, first violin; Douglas Rodgers, second violin; Virginia Witmer, cello, and Jean Lowry, viola. The Senior High Girls' Glee Club will follow with several selections. Between selections of the Glee Club, the trombone quartet will play. The quartet consists of Howard Smith, Warren Thomas, Charles Kingsley, and Fred Turkington. An intermission will follow, after which the Senior High Orchestra will close the program, playing three selections.

Port Musicians Play At Ithaca

Eleven Local Players Play In All-State Band

Eleven members of the local high school band played in the All-State band, which was a feature of the annual State Band-Masters' Clinic, held at Ithaca, New York, November 21, 22, 23. Some sixty high schools throughout the state were represented in the band, but the Port Washington delegation was the largest from any one school. The eleven students from Port Washington who played are William Bailey, Gordon Stubbings, Malcolm Lowry, John Smith, John Wilkie, Howard Smith, Henry Harrison, Michael DeLeo, John McBrian, Raymond Mazur, and William Bischoff.

The All-State Band was composed of one hundred and seven high school musicians from all parts of the state. After two rehearsals the band played in a concert before a packed house in the Ithaca High School auditorium. At this concert the band was directed by Captain O'Neil, head of the Canadian Grenadiers Band, and several of the outstanding high school bandmasters of the state.

Musicians Unit Alumni

At Ithaca, the Port musicians stayed at the Y. M. C. A., and the two directors stayed at a nearby hotel. A trip was made to the Cornell University campus where the boys saw Fred McNutt, Donald Utz, Lewis Lindemuth, and Albert Brown.

At a meeting of the New York State High School Band and Orchestra Leaders' Association held Saturday afternoon, Mr. Van Bodegraven, musical supervisor of the Port Washington Public Schools, was elected vice-president of the Association.

STUDENTS VIEW CITY

La Tertulia Club Members Visit Spanish Theatre, Restaurant

La Tertulia, the honorary Spanish Club of the school, and its guests, made a trip into New York to attend a performance at a Spanish theatre and to eat a typically Spanish meal. The movie house, El Campoamor, offered a diversified show consisting of a drama in Spanish entitled, "The Dead Speak", a western picture called, "A Two-Gun Caballero", and vaudeville which featured Spanish dancing.

After the show, the group partook of a dinner composed of "arroz con pollo," Spanish chicken and rice, guava, and coffee, Spanish style. The bread and butter which was served proved especially savory to the hungry students, and the amount consumed was startling.

Because of the breakdown of the bus conveying the group, the return trip took twice as long as usual. After a halting progress from Flushing, the vehicle finally stopped at the top of the Manhasset hill, not to move again until Mr. Doyle arrived to rescue the stranded linguists with another bus.

'Cradle Song' Will Be Given

Special Performance To Be Held December 19

The Dramatics Department will collaborate with the Pantomime and the Girls' Glee Club to present a Christmas program Thursday night, December 19. The program is divided into three parts. Gregoria and Maria Sierra's "Cradle Song" will be given first, the Girls' Glee Club will sing some Christmas carols, and the Pantomime Class will present "The Sleeping Beauty."

The Dramatics Department, in view of the approaching holiday, will present "The Cradle Song". The following is a press review from the "London Outlook": "Cradle Song" is Catholic in its exhibition of one of the greatest paradoxes of Catholic life, in that Catholics can achieve both an extraordinary unity and at the same time an extraordinary variety and individuality. 'Cradle Song' has been called the finest play seen in twenty-five years."

The Cast

The Prioress — Gladys R. Hawthorne
The Vicar — Antoinette Keaney
Mistress of the Novices — Barbara Stimpson
Sister Joanna of the Cross — Mary West
Sister Maria Jesus — Marjorie Wheeler
Sister Marcella — Dorothy Bohn
Sister Sagrario — Jane Willis
Sister Inez — Ruth Loomis
Sister Tornera — Virginia Hyland
Teresa — Natalie Frost
Antonio — Ernest Dahl
The Doctor — John Anderson
The Poet — Andrew Johnson

The Sleeping Beauty

In keeping with the old English custom of presenting a fairy tale during the Yuletide holiday, Miss Hawthorne's Pantomime Class will present "The Sleeping Beauty." This, seeming to have nothing to do with the holiday spirit, is a gay, spirited fairy tale, with a tempo set for rhythmic dancing. The leading characters, the princess and the prince, will be played by Mary West and Helen Bott. The King and Queen, the princess' parents, are played by Jacqueline Voute and Helen Brock, respectively. Natalie Frost will be the good fairy, and Virginia Utz the witch.

"The Sleeping Beauty" will give a matinee on Thursday, December 19, for the Main Street, Sands Point, and Flower Hill grade children. A collection will be taken, the children being at liberty to pay what they like. That night it will again be given, along with the "Cradle Song," and the Girls' Glee Club. The price of admission for the evening performance is thirty-five cents.

Library Adds Popular Books

During Book Week a contest was held in the library which enabled students to vote for their favorite books. The four most popular books are to be purchased by the library.

Approximately twenty-five books were voted upon by the students. The most popular book, "Seven League Boots" by Richard Halliburton, received fifty votes. The other three books to be purchased are "The Biography of Will Rogers", by O'Brien, "From Death to Morning," a book of fourteen short stories by Thomas Wolfe, and "Lucy Gayheart", by Willa Cather.

Back to Familiar Routine

WE all know how difficult it was for us to come back to school Monday and adjust ourselves to the familiar routine. It was only a four day vacation, but during that time our minds were far removed from thoughts of school. We were concerned only with enjoying ourselves.

Now that the Thanksgiving holiday is over, it is necessary to resume work and studies again. Not for long, however, for that important event, Christmas, is drawing nearer. Many are already invaded with the spirit of that time. And in the meantime—it will no doubt be very trying for us to concentrate fully on our studies. This is our own personal problem; only sheer determination will help us to accomplish this task. It is very essential that we work to the best of our ability and not idle away the few weeks before Christmas.

Report cards have been issued for the second time this term and only one more marking period remains. At the end of the last period, we are faced with Regents. The fact that Regents are extremely formidable to most of us should act as a warning. This warning, in turn, should stimulate us to make an immediate decision; that is to prepare in advance as a guarantee against failure.

Boost For Forensic Club

STEPHEN LEACOCK once said that, if he were founding a university, the first thing he would found would be a smoking room. Then, having acquired a little more money, a dormitory; after that, or more likely with it a reading room and library; last he would hire a professor and get some text-books.

This statement would seem to indicate that, in the opinion of an authority on the subject, the essential part of education is not what can be obtained from books and teachers, but what we are able to absorb from our associations and acquaintances with fellow students.

Here in school a smoking room is out of the question. However, a club or social room, where spare time could be spent would be an advantage to anyone interested in the exchange of ideas and opinions on current topics. The broadening of our acquaintances and, as a result, our opinions and ideas, may partially take the place of such a club room. And, in the event that great interest be shown, a possible outcome might be a club for debates on current topics and events.

A Port Profile

Brilliant Senior Student Sometimes Named Actual 'Native'

Well—found at last! What? A shining light who is actually what is sometimes termed a "native" of Port. Who? Why, none other than Eloise Jenkins, that Circle and Celerity president, Senior Class treasurer, hockey and basketball enthusiast, etc., etc., ad infinitum. Among the etceteras, she modestly lists having been secretary-treasurer of her class during her junior year, and captain of the tennis team the same year; not to mention her activities on the Port Weekly and Port Light.

Basketball Favorite Activity

All these facts were gleaned from Eloise herself, after school on the Wednesday before Thanksgiving—an example of that well-known cooperative spirit. The next question was: "What is your favorite outside activity?" At this point a couple of hockey players burst in to babble several incoherent mutterings concerning hockey sticks and whatnot. Ye humble reporter was a bit baffled, but not Eloise. In her quiet, but competent manner, she settled the question of the sticks and then paused to consider the other question.

"I guess basketball is my favorite activity but I do like hockey." On the subject of younger sisters, Eloise smiled and answered: "The less said about that the better!"

An Embryo Linguist

She insists that she has no likes or dislikes, intends to stay on until June, and expects to go to Middlebury College next fall. "I want to be a French teacher—or Spanish teacher. You know, some language."

And I almost forgot—she, too, represented Port at the New Jersey College for Women last year. About that trip she says: "Mmm—we had a swell time!" Which about sums up the enthusiasm of the little brunette who rarely misses the Honor Roll on her way up—and takes it quite for granted.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

Port Weekly staff publishes the December 7 issue of the Port Washington News. . . . Students take complete charge of the issue. . . . High School features, local news, and many additional features comprised the issue. . . . Staff to be guests of the Beacon Theatre. . . . "Port Light" staff announced, three editors chosen. . . . 'Rank And Vile' Reviews Activities Of Two Past Nocturnal Week-Ends

By FRED TURKINGTON

It's two weeks now since the last issue and things have certainly been popping. To be really orderly and systematic I'll go way back to the Sports Hop, almost two weeks ago. It was about the most successful school dance of recent years. The Varsity Club, which sponsored it, made a lot of money, and, more than that, practically everyone who went had a good time. The decorations were original and very appropriate, and the orchestra played to everyone's satisfaction, between the time-outs. The one drawback to the evening was the weather, for the thermometer was below freezing and a minor blizzard was raging. A few cars protested before starting, after the ball was over, but apparently all of them finally caught.

To get down to more recent times the first night of the Thanksgiving vacation, Wednesday, some supposedly professional players put on a play in the K. of C. Hall. Quite a few students attended but the play didn't please those accustomed to the high level of high school dramatics work. That same night one of the Sophs, Eleanor Talbot, had a party. At it a few of our gay young blades had their first experience with Lady Nicotine, with disastrous consequences. This is a deplorable tendency, but I have it on good authority that none of the reckless youths inhaled.

Thursday Dull But Not Dry

Thursday and Thanksgiving, Virginia Utz's birthday, and Jack Young was home on a vacation from his arduous studies. The result was a party. Fred McNutt was there with a few friends from Cornell. Jane Clark appeared with Vic Romagna and went home with four other guys. Aside from this, the town was very dull, Thursday night, but not dry.

A crowd gathered at Ruth Guilford's Friday night. Everybody present took refuge on the floor when a car outside showed its lights through the windows, under the mistaken impression that it was a columnist in search of material. There was a good deal of excitement when Johnny Anderson discovered that his Red Domino pin was not in its accustomed place. After a frantic search, the pin was found and returned, but not to Johnny. Virginia Church was down from Elmira and showed up with George Brown, and Shirley Warren teamed up with Art Cornell. "Gonk" Kingsley and Georgiana Knemeyer got along all right, despite frequent reminders that Montell would be coming back soon.

Saturday Very Bright

Saturday was a red letter day, or rather night, in Port. There were no less than four parties around town. Taking them in alphabetical order, the first was at Jane Cole's. At this there were a few extra crashers and someone lifted the punch, otherwise nothing of note. Svea Olson also had a few friends in, including a couple of fellows from Massachusetts. Jimmy Rinehart had a party, too, but it lacked the spirit of the good old Rinehart brawls. A Roscoe Cornell sat around all evening reading extracts from the work of the peerless writer, Sophocles. Everybody else sat around, too, but not reading Sophocles. At about 8:30, Tommy Williams decided to have a party, so he called up a few friends and had one. It turned out to be quite a party. The rather unusual couples were Glen

Kilner and Lee Smith, Dick Jost and Nancy Thompson, Roger Kavanagh and B. Templin, and a few other couples.

From the excursion of a few of our musicians to Ithaca we hear that Ray Mazur was making time with some flute-player from up-State, a girl, of course. They made quite an excursion into the country, according to the other Port representatives, with John McBrian acting as chauffeur.

We also hear that Peggie Rinehart (Zech to you) made a visit to Baltimore, Thanksgiving weekend, and apparently made quite a hit with the local lads. She received, and, it seems, rejected, two proposals. Needless to say the aspiring swains were more than a little inebriated.

Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION

Which of the orchestras that have played at school dances do you prefer?

Bob Munhall, a Senior, stated: "I prefer Bud Wansor's orchestra because I think their arrangements are better than any of the other orchestras that have played here and the fellows are younger and seem to be better suited to play at school dances. In my opinion they play better, too."

Jane Cole, a Sophomore, answered: "I like Eddie Gunther's orchestra because the music they play is music that is just out. He has a lot more variety and his intermissions are not nearly so long as Bud Wansor's."

Stanley Kalinosky, a Junior, replied: "I prefer Eddie Gunther's orchestra because they have better arrangements, the intermissions are not too long and the players are older and more experienced. The orchestra, as a whole, has a lot more pep than Bud Wansor's orchestra does."

Helen Bott, a Junior, said: "I like Bud Wansor's orchestra because I think the younger players understand what people going to High School dances want. I liked the numbers that were played at the Varsity Hop better than those played at the Senior Ball."

"Old Man Rhythm," a Senior, responded: "There are orchestras and orchestras but the orchestras generally employed at the school dances are not of the first order. However, the Varsity Hop was an exception to this rule. However, I hope this thought will be considered by those in charge of future dances."

WE AIM TO PLEASE

Week after week we have received notes complaining that this column does not publish the contributions which are placed in the Snoop Box. In order to appease these people we are presenting everything found in the box. We did not edit it at all. Excuse the errors. They aren't ours. Here goes (So help us). Here goes!

Lillian R. smiled at Walter Bidle in study hall and we here that when the regular cavalcade was going down the Webster Avenue stairway, Mr. Keeley who was stationed at the bottom order them to form a line and to pass out quietly. (Surprisingly none of them obliged by swooning).

extra! extra! read all about it. D. H. admits that he is very fond of G. F. Signed Water Winchell.

The 9B girls have decided that Warren Kunz could be adequately described as Kunzed. Catch? (Ed. Note: A pun is adequately described as the lowest form of wit.)

A Joke

Communist: I don't think I'll orate on the soap box tonight. It rained and I might slip. (P. S. Ha, Ha.)

Another Joke

Angelina Caparella: "I'm a printer. How do you like my type?"

Why do Madeline S. of 8A and D. D. of 7B make such faces when they pass each other? It is because of Billy A.? (Now, we ask you.)

Library Glorifies Czecho-Slovakia

Exhibit Of Lace, Glass, Toys And Pictures Being Shown This Week

The latest exhibit of the library is centered on Czecho-Slovakia. The articles for this unusual exhibition were lent to Miss Godfree by the Consulate General of New York.

Dainty Work Displayed

Among the displayed articles are some dainty pieces of handwoven lacework which form a background for a number of softly colored pieces of glassware. This glass is extremely delicate. There are also perfume bottles of beautiful design with interesting long tassels and a water pitcher with an unusual handle. Dolls, dressed in the traditional costume of the country, are surrounded by playthings of the Czecho-Slovakian children, such as blocks, wooden animals, and miniature dolls.

Colorful Pictures

Pictures of this colorful country are exhibited on the bulletin board. Photographs of the peaceful countryside contrasting strongly with the pictures of the surprisingly modern architecture of the buildings of the city squares may also be seen.

Czecho-Slovakia is no longer the backward country that we think it. This exhibit can only portray parts of the country's growth, but it will certainly prove most interesting to all.

"Do Unto Others"

This week's home room topic was "How should one conduct himself at assemblies, amateur programs and other public functions?"

In the humble opinion of the writer, there is but one course of action to take in this matter. If each student bears in mind the old, old truth, "Do Unto Others As You Would Have Them Do Unto You," there would be no cause for discussing this matter at all.

If the pupil who is in the audience tried to imagine himself upon a platform trying to amuse and entertain while certain listeners caused confusion in the gathering, he would think twice before he laughed out of turn or acted impolitely.

Fortunately, our student body is usually polite and considerate. However, there are times when some people forget themselves. Let's watch it. We want our Junior High School to be known as a gathering of intelligent, well-behaved pupils.

CHRISTMAS PLAY PLANNED

This year's Christmas assembly is under the direction of Miss Hansen. The members of her class will perform in the program. This Christmas program will consist of some Christmas carols, a pageant of the nativity story, and probably a short play entitled "The Surprise Christmas" by Marjorie Barrows. This presentation will be given in the assembly on December 19.

Miss Thorne: "What is the singular of cattle?"

B. E.: "Beef!"

Congratulations, Mr. Markle!

The broad grin on Mr. Markle's face can be explained by the fact that Samuel Llewellyn Markle was born last Thanksgiving Day at Mineola Hospital. Mrs. Markle, the former Miss Lucille Tucker, of our Home Economics Department, and young Samuel are both doing nicely. We think Mr. Markle will survive.

Bad Weather Sometimes Is Blessing In Disguise

Recent Rains Wash Hockey Team To Victory

By N. KESHISHIAN

Whether the weather be fine or whether the weather be not—
Whether the weather be cold or whether the weather be hot—
We'll weather the weather whatever the weather
Whether we like it or not—Adapted.

We certainly have to get used to the weather. In the past few weeks we have had rain enough to drench Long Island.

The heat, however, caused it to evaporate while the weather bureau made boys and girls happy with the promise of freezing weather (which incidentally leads to snow). No wonder the subject of "weather" is nearly always the overture of conversation. The heat is often discussed to "break the ice" at parties.

Rain Useful

Rain is very useful. Besides bringing business to the cold-prevention manufacturers, at a recent hockey game it helped the Junior High girls to win. The game was more of the team-who-keeps-its-balance-best wins. Our team had quite a lot of experience and practice in this and naturally held its balance on the wet muddy ground rather well compared to the opposing team.

Many are wishing for the white sparkling snow. The girls who received ski suits last Christmas are anxious to wear them again, and boys have had plenty of time this summer to patch up the sleds and figure new ways of "ditching" others.

COMPOSITIONS ENTER RADIO COMPETITION

Miss Thorne's English classes, the 7B-2, 8A-2, and the 9B-1, have entered the second in a series of radio summary contests conducted by a group of dentists, physicians, health educators and scientists.

As was previously announced, the 8A-2 won second prize in the first contest. For this second contest the compositions of Charles Hewitt, 7B-2, Bette Davidson, 8A-2, and Violet Levy, 9B-1, were finally selected as to compete.

The orchestra and chorus are rushing the season. The orchestra wants to play "Jingle Bells" and the chorus sings Christmas carols. By the way—Bill Griffes is rushing Marjorie Weber.

And why does Colburn Davis always muss his locks when he wants to think?

Girls' Hockey Team Honored

Seventh, Eighth Grades Hold Depression Party

Monday, the 25th of November, a "Depression Party" was held in the Junior High cafeteria in honor of the Girls' 9th Grade Hockey team. All were requested to appear in "Poor Man's" clothing.

The girls of the 7th and 8th Grade Hockey teams planned the party themselves, and for decorations the girls had strips of funny papers hanging from the walls, wound around and scattered on the floor.

Dancing and Singing

After refreshments, the girls danced and sang.

The "Poor man's party" broke up at about six o'clock and many did not eat supper when they reached their loved homes.

The "Depression" party was a great success and the girls who planned it received the thanks of the guests.

Food and Games

Interesting and amusing games were played and no doubt some of the girls had very sore shoulders.

The best part of the party was the refreshments. The tables of food were placed in a semi-circle.

At each place was a funny sheet, an apple, a lollypop, three doughnuts, a cup of cider and a hat made of newspaper. The three doughnuts were wrapped in paper with a stick going through the top to hold the paper together. The package represented a hobo's sack.

8B Art Class Depicts Animal Life In Panel

The 8B Special Art Class is at present making a set of three panels depicting the development of early animal and sea life.

The panels are being done in a new medium, "Fresco," patented by Mr. Charles Morrison, of Binney and Smith Company. Mr. Morrison recently visited this school and left a number of boxes of Fresco with Miss Hansen for the pupils to try out.

As for several unusually rosy complexions seen on pupils the period after they had art class, that also is "Fresco," red "Fresco" applied in liberal quantities by the artists.

REPORT CARDS ISSUED

Marks for the second six weeks of schoolwork closed on Wednesday, November 27. Report cards for this period were issued on December 5. Pupils are reminded to return report cards with their parent's signature as soon as possible. The honor pupils (those who received the most A's in their class) will be announced in next week's Port Junior.

Varsity Wins 5 Of 7 Games

Augustino Leads Port High Scorers With 25 Points

By GEORGE BANGS

Well, football fans, the 1935 season is over for the Port Washington Senior High School football squad. The lads of the Blue and White ended a most successful season in comparison with previous records, winning five games, losing one, and tying one. A total of 80 points was amassed by Port as against 26 by their opponents. Captain Joe Augustino led the individual scoring with 25 points. Al Smith, Stan Smith, "Ziggie" Zarembo, Pete Prudenti and Bob Kunz follow with 19, 18, 6, 6 and 4 points, respectively.

ALUMNI: On October 5 the Port Varsity opened its season against a strong Alumni team composed of the greatest array of former Port stars to ever assemble on a Port gridiron. The game was never certain as to the outcome until the final whistle blew with the Port Varsity winning out, 7 to 6. The Alumni scored on a long pass to George Erb in the third quarter. With but three minutes to play before the end of the game, Alex Smith, playing the safety position, took an Alumni punt on his own ten-yard line and ran with perfect interference up the sidelines for a touchdown and the tying score. A pass to Augustino in the end zone for the extra point was good to win the game.

HICKSVILLE: The Port Varsity literally swamped its first league opponents on October 12, 15 to 0. Port outplayed the lads from Hicksville in every department of the game. Scoring in the first, second, and third periods, Port decisively defeated the Mid-Islanders. The game featured many substitutions on the part of Coach Costello.

SOUTHAMPTON: Traveling out to Southampton on October 19, Port defeated a powerful Red and White team from Suffolk County. Scoring on a long pass from Al Smith to Joe Augustino in the second period, Port took the decision over a team that continually outplayed the boys in Blue and White. Port featured beautiful goal line stands, particularly in the last period, to preserve their 6 to 0 lead and final score.

GREAT NECK: Port met its only defeat on October 26 to Great Neck at Port Washington. Playing before the largest crowd to witness a game this season, the Orange and Blue forces outplayed and outscored the Port lads to the tune of 14 to 6. Great Neck threw passes for both scores and for large gains. Port scored on a 60-yard run by Al Smith in the second period. Great Neck scored in the first and fourth periods on passes to Bangert and Reed. This game was a benefit for the Port Washington Athletic Association and attracted a crowd of 1,500 eager and thrilled people.

MANHASSET: Port has played its last football game with Manhasset. Due to non-support and other unknown reasons, Manhasset dropped all football relations in the years to come. A team made up of a so-called Junior Varsity men sunk Manhasset to the tune of 33 to 0. Coach Costello again used a great number of substitutes in overcoming a tremendously outplayed Manhasset team.

By GEORGE BANGS

FOOTBALL:

Another successful season has passed in the annals of Port football, and Joe Augustino may well be proud that he was captain of this 1935 Varsity eleven of Port Washington Senior High School. Yours truly has finally figured out the total statistics of the season for both Port and its opponents. Here they are:

	Port	Opp.
Yards gained rushing.....	652	511
Yards gained passing.....	403	339
Passes attempted	57	102
Passes completed	17	35

As a witness of every game played, I can't quite believe that Port outrushed and outclassed its worthy opponents in general. This was largely due to the statistics resulting from the Hicksville and Manhasset games. In these two encounters the Blue and White ran all over the field.

The sandlot team, namely the Heights, has closed its season also. They terminated their campaign with a stinging victory over another team of various sorts. Playing in the mud and rain on Thanksgiving Day, they piled up a score of 27 points to nothing for their opponents. Bob "Nipper" Lang made the long run of the day, running in the neighborhood of 60 to 70 yards for a touchdown. Many notables were present at this mud-throwing. A good majority of the Blue and White Varsity was in evidence during the game and the rain. This team from the Heights must be quite a bunch. They were able to change coaches in mid-season and still maintain their winning stride.

Boys' Basketball Begins

Boys' basketball practice will start on or about December 10. All boys who expect to participate will be given a card which their parents will be required to sign. They will also be given an examination by the school doctor.

About six of last year's players are still with us which is a fairly good basis on which to start a new team.

WESTHAMPTON: This was the only tie on Port's record. A fast and heavy Westhampton team came to Port Washington and played a very close game on a windy field. This was the second tie game played by these two teams against each other. Stan Smith scored on a plunge in the second period after a sustained march down the field. Westhampton came back in the second half to outplay Port. In the closing minutes of play, a pass and run play tied the score.

GLEN COVE: Port closed its season in a blaze of glory by tripping its traditional rivals from Glen Cove 7 to 0 on November 23. Playing on a snow-covered field with a biting wind, the game was mostly a kicking duel between Petroski of Glen Cove and Bob Kunz of Port. The score came in the third period on a 21-yard pass to "Ziggie" Zarembo. The result of this game put Port in second place in the mythical North Shore Conference, Great Neck having defeated both Port and Glen Cove.

BASKETBALL:

The basketball season has started! Coach Costello gave the call on Monday, November 25, and was rewarded with a squad of 45 young hopefuls. This number will be cut down considerably very shortly, if this has not already been done. A great deal of wealth is left from last year's Varsity and second teams. Among the lettermen left are Joe Augustino, Stan Smith, Johnny Rogier, Irving Petersen, and Eddie Dumpson. All of these, except Dumpson, have turned out for practice.

A good crop of lettermen is here from last year's Junior High School squad. Herb Carpenter, Oscar Petersen, Alex Smith, and Tony Augustino are four Sophomores who are out to bolster the Port cause. Other material to be reckoned with are Eddie Laugen, Sam Shiley, John Duncan, and Mike Romeyko. Coach Costello has a great deal of material this year, and should have at least two teams capable of playing varsity basketball.

The Varsity Club has its own basketball team. Forming quite a formidable combination, the boys journeyed to Manhasset one night last week and played the Manhasset Alumni team. After four periods of ding-dong fighting, it was discovered that the Varsity Club had submerged Manhasset's Alumni, 38 to 33. Good luck, boys! Everyone hopes you continue your most successful beginning.

SOCCER TEAM UNDEFEATED

For a newly introduced sport, soccer proved extremely popular, attracting some fifty aspirants. Its material was drawn from many different sources, and it provided a new outlet for those who have not entered into any of the other sport activities.

All of Port's three opponents were experienced players, and the record of two games won and one tied is a fine beginning. The opening game was the only near disaster, but Port scored in the last minute to tie the score, 2-2. The second scheduled game proved to be a 4-0 victory over Oyster Bay on the home field. The last game of the season was an easy victory over Hicksville, and the visitors went home dragging a 5-0 defeat.

Varsity Sports Hop Proves Successful

The Sports Hop, given by the newly formed Varsity Club which featured the close of the football season, proved very successful. A large crowd turned out for the event.

Bud Wansor's orchestra, furnishing the music, seemed to be very popular with the dancers, as did the collegiate decorations. Apropos of the end of the football season and the triumphant Glen Cove game, the Glen Cove football was displayed in front of the orchestra.

The lowered admission price, together with the general informality of the occasion, seemed to attract a large crowd, as a profit of $17.50 was received by the club.

Hockey Team Closes Season

Girls Win Five Games, Lose Only One

By DOROTHY DAVENPORT

Thursday, November 21, brought to a close one of the most successful hockey seasons in the history of the school. What with the acquisition of a new coach and consequently new methods of play, many things had to be accomplished. Out of a total of six games played, five were won and one lost.

For the first game of the season, the Port team traveled to Huntington to hand out an 18 to 0 defeat to the home team. This was far the easiest game of the season, for Huntington didn't have enough experience to cope with the Blue and White's method of attack.

Port "Goes to Town"

Then came Manhasset. Port scored the first goal but Manhasset soon retaliated and the game went on in a ding-dong fashion until the end of the period. Then Port "went to town" and in the second half scored five goals in rapid succession, which brought the game to a close with a 6 to 1 victory.

On October 29, Port Washington experienced its first defeat of the season, which also proved its last. At the beginning of the second period McKenna of Westbury, an All-Long Island player, shot the ball through the posts for two goals. Port then scored again in the person of "Dot" Schauer, the captain, which advanced the score to three for Westbury and two for Port. The Blue and White spent most of the remaining time defending its goal but couldn't prevent one more goal from being scored, which brought the count to 4 to 2 at the end of the game.

After the Alumnae game, in which the graduates were defeated 5 to 0, Port defeated Oyster Bay 6 to 0. The last home game was played against Hicksville on November 19. This year, however, their team was not up to standard and Port won an easy 4 to 0 victory.

Last Game a Classic

The last game of the season was also one of the best. The opponents, Mineola, had previously held Westbury to a 2 to 2 tie and consequently much importance was attached to the outcome. The field was oversized and previous rain had made the ground extremely unsuitable to good hockey. Port ended the first half with a comfortable 1 to 0 lead tucked away. With this, Mineola scored to even up, but nothing daunted, Port Washington scored three goals in rapid succession and the game was ended with the Blue and White leading 4 to 1.

Carmela Muro leads the scoring with a total of 18 points, Eloise Jenkins follows with 13 tallies, then comes "Dot" Schauer totaling 6 goals. The next group is made up of Dorothy Suydam and Lillian Kohanska, who have scored two points, and then the tail-enders of one point each, Florence Kurejwo, "Dot" Davenport and Virginia Salerno.

Port Washington has seen many new changes in the past season, a new coach, new umpires and some new schools on the schedule. The first two are changes apparently for the better and the third reason will probably be rectified in time.
