

Football Letters Awarded To Players; Predict Successful Season For Next Year

Girl Athletes Receive Awards For Participation In Field Hockey And Soccer

In a special assembly held last Thursday for the purpose of giving out athletic awards for the fall sports, some seventeen football letters were awarded. Principal W. F. Merrill opened the assembly with a few words as to what the football team accomplished in face of its inability to win games. Coach Carl Seeber next introduced the coveted awards to the team members. Every member of the squad was present except Doug Rodgers. The gridiron men were called up on the stage by their coach and the following were recipients of Blue and White "P's": Robert Rankin, manager; Pete Prudenti, John Hooper, Mike Romeyko, "Lindy" Lambert, Ken Iverson, Doug Rodgers, Bernie Mallon, back-field men; Herb Carpenter, "Pussy" Markland, ends; Bob Welfi, Ted Gregory centers; Tony Fasano, Don Smith, Charles Neulist, Ernie Tonsmeire, Odd Hope, and "Jiggs" Boriotti, guards and tackles.

Romeyko Is Quarterback

Mike Romeyko, who started the season as an end, was soon converted to quarterback where he played for the remainder of the schedule. He also played more minutes than any other member of the squad. Tony Fasano, because of his age, was able to participate in only two games. Pete Prudenti, although he missed the first game of the season, played in all the others and did a fine job as halfback. Captain Bernie Mallon, after missing most of the games due to a hand injury, returned in time to partake in his squad's finest performance of the schedule, the Glen Cove game. "Pussy" Markland proved to be one of the Blue and White's outstanding players. His sterling activity took place at right end. A great deal of credit goes to the four iron men of the line: Neulist, Tonsmeire, Hope, and Boriotti, who along with Welfi and Gregory, centers, finished up the season with a record of having their six opponents score only 36 points. The championship team of 1934 boasted of holding their foes to 27 points. Port's two hardworking ends, Herb Carpenter and "Pussy" Markland were extremely effective in keeping their opponents from sweeping the ends. Fasano, a lineman, Iverson and Lambert, backfield men, although taking part in only a few games performed not without merit. Port should look forward to a successful season next year as most of these athletes will return.

The same day during the special assembly many awards were presented to the worthy girl athletes. There were eleven letters given in soccer to the following people: Louis Bellafato, Rembert Brimm, Mildred Dellavechia, Barbara Gautsche, Daisy Gardin, Violette Levy, Alice Palmer, Drina Rich, Jeanne Vanderbilt, Ann Hartell, and Joan Lee, manager.

Harriet de Pauw, who has held a position on the varsity team for three consecutive years, received a gold soccer ball. Polly Perley was awarded a pin, after playing on the team two years.

R. Alper, M. Chester, S. Greenberg, E. Kidney, G. Singleton, A. Tyson, M. Willis, J. Lewis, E. Thompson, and P. Stephenson received numerals for playing on the second team.

Awards For Hockey Girls

The hockey girls, who had a successful season, also were awarded letters. The following people received them: J. Bonczek, J. Eaton, D. Frost, E. Jinkins, M. Lang, C. Lewthwaite, and V. Seidlecki. For two years of service pins were given to Z. Andel, S. Borkowski, P. Evans, M. Muro, V. McFarland and B. Kosofsky. Lillian Kohanska was the only girl to receive a gold hockey ball.

This week has not been particularly active in the field of sports, but the winter program has definitely had its start. Basketball: At the first practice last week the girls had to adapt themselves to the comparatively limited space as the great outdoors will not be theirs again for some time. Fortunately, their style does not appear to be too cramped and we can expect their usually good playing. After brushing up on technique the squad tried their mettle in scrimmage. Due to the large number of girls it is not possible for them to receive individual pointers on their game until after Christmas when the squad will be cut.

Volleyball: This sport is arousing greater interest than ever and is rapidly attaining the popularity of basketball. The first interclass matches were held last Thursday, December 2. The most exciting game was that between 11 A and 11 B. Both teams won one game and a third had to be played, the final result favoring the 11B's. This class was victorious in two contests, the other with 10A. The remaining tussle with 10A and 10B, ended with 10B on top. Yesterday another set of games was played but their results are unknown as we go to press. Next week the final contests will be held and honor and reserve teams will be chosen December 21st. The interclass games start at 3:45 and teams should consist of twelve players, nine regulars and three substitutes.

GIRLS ATTEND TEA Meet Representatives Of Various Colleges

The regular College Tea was held Wednesday afternoon, December 8. Miss Esther Farlinger, guidance director, sponsored this tea in order that the girls who wished to continue their education after high school might have the opportunity to discuss their plans and problems with representatives from various colleges. In addition to the Port Washington girls, fourteen students from Manhasset attended the function.

Representatives were sent from twenty-one colleges: Adelphi, Agnes Scott, Centenary Junior, Colby Junior, Cornell, Duke, Elmira, Hollins, Keuka, Mt. Holyoke, New Rochelle, Russell Sage, Smith, Skidmore, Stoneleigh, Vassar, Wellesley, Wells, Western, Westhampton, William-Smith and New York State School of Home Economics.

After a period of general discussion, during which students rotated among the tables of the various representatives, refreshments consisting of tea, cocoa, and cookies were served. Mrs. P. D. Schreiber and Mrs. W. F. Merrill served as hostesses, pouring the tea. Jane Cole and Betty Lindemuth acted as student hostesses.

Zuccola Addresses Retort Wednesday

Subject Is Bacteriological Examination of Water

Last Wednesday afternoon the Retort, science club of Port High School, sponsored a lecture and demonstration on the bacteriological examination of water. Mr. Giuseppe Zuccola, director of the North Shore Clinical Laboratory, delivered the lecture to about fifty listeners. There were many of Mr. Pickett's chemistry students present as well as the entire Retort membership. This was the second lecture of this type given by Mr. Zuccola to the Retort.

Among the phases of the bacteriological examination of water covered by Mr. Zuccola were how contamination often results in water supply, how laboratory work is performed, the danger of water contamination, water borne organisms, and the presumptive test. Actual colonies of bacteria were brought and explained by Mr. Zuccola. These colonies showed the various shapes of the organisms found in water. The talk covered river water, artesian water, swimming pools, and wells.
