Undergrads Seek Victory To Revenge Defeat of Last Year

The white clad courtmen of Port High School will tangle with their elder rivals, the Alumni, tonight. Second team game will start at 8 o'clock with the first stringers appearing around o'clock. There is intense rivalry between these two, usually evenly matched teams. Close scores have been the result for the last few years.

Last year, the younger boys were beaten by the "Working Men" after a furious game and then by only one point. The outcome was decided in the last few minutes of play as the school quintet was leading by a fairly good margin at the start of the final period. The final score was 29 to 28. Stan Smith scored nine points for Port High that night while "Mac" McCarthy did not even play cn the first team.

School Lineup Same

The school lineup tonight will probably be the same as it was for the last encounter with Roslyn on Friday. Don Smith as center, "Mac' McCarthy and Tony Augustino, forwards, and Ernie Tonsmeire and Mike Romeyko, guards. This afternoon at three o'clock, the Sophomore class will sponsor a tea in the cafeteria to which all 10A and 10B pupils' parents have been invited. As outlined by the committee in charge ,the purpose of the tea is to better acquaint parents with the teachers in the high school. The cafeteria will be fittingly decorated for the occasion.

Under the direction of Miss Catherine Sammis, class adviser, invitations were printed and distributed to the parents by the numerous sophomores. The invitations are the product of two Sophomore girls. Miss Eleanor Jenkins created the verse and Miss Joan Palmer drew the Christmas illustration.

As there are approximately 250 students in the class, a large number of parents are expected this afternoon. This marks the initial attempt on the part of the class to bring students, parents, and teachers together socially. During the past week, Miss Anne Riggs, chairman of the function, urged her classmates to induce parents to attend and to keep her informed as to the number of guests to be expected.

Students Will See 102 'Julius Caesar'

Tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, three school buses, containing one hundred two pupils and teachers will set out for the Mer-cury Theatre in New York City to attend one of the season's hits, Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar." Ac-companying the pupils will be Mr. T. Dimmick, Mr. H. C. Herge, Miss B. Hawthorne, Mr C Kezar, Miss A. Mallon, and Mr. S. Scherer, all of the English department.

Many students have requested organization of such a party to see this play, directed by Orson Wells. Tickets were procured from the management at a special student rate of 58c.

Although "Julius Caesar" has been produced many times, this interpretation has an entirely new significance and beauty. No scenery or props of any kind are used in the Elizabethan manner of presentation. There are no intermissions and shafts of light emphasize the prin-cipals and mobs who are featured at different times.

Critics are agreed that this play is well worth one's while to see, for it has a suggestion of the situation in modern Europe today. Although the producer claims he's not atempting to caricature any dictator.

Circle Discusses Activities

A meeting of the Circle was held Tuesday evening, December 14, in the cafeteria. Among questions brought up for discussion by the club were those of scheduling extracurricular activities and reducing the amount of noise in the school. Mr. Merrill expects to appoint a committee of faculty members and students to work on a solution for

Fratry Dance Set For December 22 Music to Be Furnished By 'Royal Henchmen'

Among the more prominent festivities that have been arranged for the ensuing holiday is the annual Fratry Dance. This dance, that is being sponsored by one of the oldest organizations in the school, has long been awaited. Because of its previous success and the expense that goes along with it, the Fratry Dance is ranked as one of the big dances of the year. This year the Royal Henchmen will furnish the music. Refreshments and door prizes are also stated as in the evening's entertainment.

The gym will be appropriately decorated. This is under the direction of William Bischof. The Fratry is one of the few clubs that has the use of the gym for its activities. The party will be held on Wed-nesday the 22nd of December, and admission will be $1.00 per couple or stag. Dancing will be from 8:30 p.m. to 12 o'clock. Due to the strong forecast in ticket sales, a large crowd is expected to attend the dance.

On Monday, December 20, the Port Weekly held its annual party in the cafeteria from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m.

Violette Levy, in charge of the entertainment, had many games pertaining to various phases of newspaper work which gave the party a journalistic atmosphere. On her committee were Warren

Kunz, David Raymond, Doris Fenton, Mildred Lang, Owen Thomas, and Bud McQuade, who also repre-sented the names of famous men of the literary world in a guessing game

Making costumes out of newspapers was another contest which provided much merriment. Ping pong,

As planned originally by the Board of Education, the project called for the erection of a new school to relieve the overcrowded conditions in the Main Street building. The rooms vacated by the elementary pupils would then have been available for the Junior High School. This taking over of the space formerly used by the elementary department would eliminate the use of the small, ill-lighted, and unventilated rooms now in use by the Junior High School; and, in addi-tion, would provide space for the improvement of the building's sanitary facilities. The Board of Education and the

Superintendent gave careful consideration and detailed study to this problem over a period of many months, and then outlined to the taxpayers and parents of the com-munity the need for another school. Public Hearing Held

A public hearing was held on the proposal in the Main Street auditorium on Monday evening, December 6. At this meeting the public was given an opportunity to present questions and to express opin-ions concerning the project. In ad-dition, Supt. P. D. Schreiber ap-peared before many of the local groups to explain the need for a new building.

Last Tuesday the voting on this question took place in the Main Street auditorium between the hours of 4:00 and 10:00 p.m.

The project was defeated by the following vote: Ballots In Favor: 681

Ballots Opposed: 1095 Ballots Blank: 18 Ballots Void: 25

Although the voting down of the proposal was a grave disappointment to the school authorities, they are prepared to abide by the decision of the majority and to make the best of the present unsatisfactory situation, with the least pos-sible ill effect to the children involved.

As a matter of interest, twelve years ago the proposal to build a senior high school was voted down three times, and, finally, the fourth time was successful. The result is the building we are now occupying.

Mr. Palmer Gives Clio Club Lecture

Curtis Herge, of the high school faculty, will preside at the meeting of April 5 at which time Dr. Will Durant, who is returning this year by popular request, will answer the question, "Does Man Progress?"

Wiliam C. Allen, in charge of tickets, has announced that sales are going forward so rapidly that it is believed that a record audience will attend the meetings.

Angela M. Mallon, in charge of patrons for the Forum, has an-nounced the addition of several names to the list. They are Judge and Mrs. Arthur W. Jones, Edgar F. Luckenbach, Charles Wysong, Herman Brock, Charlotte E. Merriman, Sammis, Austin Catherine Knowles, Jean MacLaren, Joseph De Guiacomo, Frederic J. Ahern.
