Girls' Sport Season Opened With Hockey

Game Schedule Includes Baldwin, Garden City Among Its Rivals

By E. Jenkins

The girls' sports season of 1937 opened on Wednesday, September 15, when approximately forty-five athletes reported at a hockey meeting held in the school gymnasium.

The tentative schedule includes games with Baldwin, Freeport and Garden City in the offing. In a statement to the paper Miss Maher said: "It is only by playing better teams that our squad can progress."

The girls are showing much interest and enthusiasm at practices; they have completely thrown them-selves into the sporting atmosphere and are busily getting the kinks out of their weary bones.

In the locker room last Thursday an obliging young miss called to the girls in the showers, "Better hurry, the plumber is coming down to fix a pipe!" The height of nonchalance was registered when one of the girls asked, "Is he handsome?" The reply not forthcoming, the girls scurried to dress.

Hockey Off to Good Start

If you would start the season right, do as one of our up-andcoming players did when she broke a mirror on the first day of practice; even this doesn't seem to be holding her back.

Seven varsity members remain from last year, and their ability combined with that of newcomers ought to establish a team that will click. Carmella Muro, last year's center forward, was good enough to leave Mary to carry on the family

The girls are all very enthusiastic and promise some good playing to all who attend the games. What about a big crowd to give them a rousing start?

Soccer Season Planned

Soccer, a sport which has been gaining popularity since its inauguration three years ago, is going to play a big part in this year's activities. Miss Dorothy Fett of Junior High School, will coach the girls who attended the first Soccer meeting on Tuesday. A larger schedule is being planned for soccer this year and the fifty-two girls who turned out are looking forward to it, as are the rest of us. Games Soccer have already been secured with Baldwin and Hicksville.

Another activity planned for the near future is the tennis tournament for which the following aspirants have signed up: M. Muro, G. Copp, F. White, N. Shakespeare, E. Talbot, P. Mordt, A. Huethwohl, E. Monfort, and M. Lang.

The hockey squad is under the able management of B. Kosofsky, D. Fenton, and also R. Knudsen, who incidentally, as scrub manager, gets all the dirty work. J. Lee, P. Stephenson, and E. Merrill are managers of the soccer team.

Here's hoping we drive that ball right between the goal posts to a smashing success!

Art Club Elects Officers For Coming School Term

Last Monday in Room 213 Miss Edith Allison, art instructor, called the first meeting of the Art Club for the purpose of electing officers for this year. Martha Munhall was chosen president, and the office of secretary-treasurer will be filled by

At the next meeting, which will be held on Monday, October 4, defi-nite plans will be made for the activities of the club.

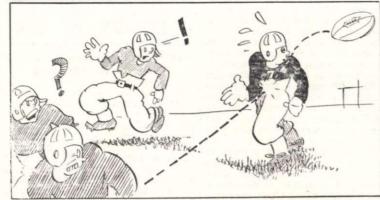

Willy Knudsen, who was a former member of the Art Club in this school, was recently awarded the Charles Livingston Bull Scholarship. This award is offered by the Phoenix Art Institute of New York City, and it is open to national

With approximately fifty candiddates reporting for the first foot-ball practice, the prospects for the coming season seem only fair. The main difficulty seems to be the lack of experienced material. However, several post-graduates have reported to the squad, and they strengthen it

This year the team will be much lighter than last season's, but several positions in the line will be held down with a considerable amount of weight. On the whole, the average avoirdupois will be less.

The squad started its calisthenics on the football field this year, instead of on the hockey field. Maybe it's because the candidates are lighter.

The first game, against the Alumni, promises to gather the greatest team of graduates yet to be seen. Not only will it be a heavy team, but many of its members play with semi-pro outfits. However, by Octo-ber second, the Blue and White should have an aggregation that will give the Alumni quite a tussle. The schedule for the coming season is as follows:

October 2-Alumni at Port. October 9-Hicksville at Port. October 16 Southampton at Southampton.

October 23-Stony Brook at Stony Brook.

November 2-Great Neck at Port. November 13 - Westhampton Beach at Port.

November 20-Glen Cove at Glen

The annual fall tennis tournament has twenty-eight contestants entered and promises to be a hotly fought match. "Pussy" Markland caused a furor of excitement when he failed to sign up. This leaves last year's runner up, Doug Wright quite a clear field ahead. Pantomime Classes Hold

Last Friday, September 17, the Pantomime class held its first meet-ing immediately after school in Room 110. Thirty-five girls turned out for the beginners' class; nine of which were placed in the advanced class.

In order to impress upon the students the importance of attending every practice, Miss Bonnie Hawthorne, the instructor, has made a rule that each girl must be at every practice in order to take part in the ballet which will be given at Christmas for the children. The name of it is "Cinderella," with music by Tschaikowsky.

Subscriptions Near Mark As Drive Ends

With the termination of the second week of the subscription campaign, Helen Brock, Business Manager, indicated her optimism in achieving the 800 subscription objective, set by the business staff as necessary to make the paper selfsupporting.

On Tuesday afternoon as the paper went to press Miss Brock, when questioned by a reporter about the total subscription, said, "Well, we already have a total of 775 sub-scribers of which 333 are in the Junior High school. We are making a definite attempt to obtain 60 additional subscribers from the business men of Port Washington. Then, too, we haven't begun to hear from the Alumni."

Subscription reports of the various Home Rooms show Rembert Brimm in the lead with 29 subscriptions from Room 206. Other representatives, who show excellent returns, are Jack Young with 28 subscriptions from Room 101; Bert Schaur, 207, with 27 subscribers; and Mildred Lang, 202, with 26 subscribers.

One cause for the enthusiastic returns is due to the system of awards and trophies offered by the school to student representatives and home rooms that show a high per cent return.

This issue of The Port Weekly marks the second anniversary of a reorganized and merged Junior-Senior High School weekly newspaper in Port Washington. At the time the merger was effected in 1935, The Port Weekly had entered its twelfth year of continuous appearance making it one of the oldest students' publications in the state. Now in its fourteenth year, the publication makes another step by appearing each week in a larger form than ever before. As a four page, five column newspaper, The Port Weekly will vie in national competition with newspapers published by rarge metropolitan high schools throughout the country.

The Port Weekly is a member of the Columbia Scholastic Press Association; the New York State School Press Association; and the Quill and Scroll, which is the international honorary society for high school

Several Teachers Are Interviewed

Miss Mac Gillivray, Miss Mallon, Miss Work, Miss Baperski, and Miss Sammis comprise the new members of the faculty this year. They have come from various parts of the United States to fill positions here which have been vacated.

Born in Brooklyn, Miss Catherine Sammis, who previously taught here, soon moved to Flushing. She was educated at Smith College. During her sabbatical leave from this school, she supplemented her educaton at Teachers' College, Columbia University. Her summers for the most part are spent travelling in Europe. Besides collecting foreign dolls during her travels, her hobbies include golf and photography.

Miss Saberski. who is replacing fr. Predmore as Spanish Teacher. her, and she enjoys teaching here. her favorite pastimes. She recently spent a year travelling in Spain and Saberski hopes to organize a Spanish Honor Society in the school.

The new commercial teacher is Josephine Work, who was born in First Meeting on Friday Michigan. Before teaching here, she taught in Starret School in Chicago She attended the University of Michigan and is now studying at Columbia. Miss Work prefers small towns and likes Port Washington a great deal. She also thinks that the present marking system is commendable. Her interests lie in opera

Fifty Candidates Out For Football

Only 5 Lettermen Return to This Year's Squad

TO AWARD CLUB CUP

"The First Shave" Chosen As Sophomore Play

Coach Costello wasted no time in inaugurating football here this year. The day school opened a meeting was held and about fifty hopefuls turned out. Of this number only five were lettermen last year. These are Carpenter Mike Romeyko, Tony Fasano, Don Smith and Bernie Mallon.

The team will have plenty of re-serve strength, but it lacks the manpower of last year's team. Last year's eleven won only two out of six games, a record this year's team should surpass.

It is of course too early to tell who will be in the lineup on October second against the Alumni. It looks as though Herb Carpenter and Mike Romeyko will be on the ends. "Jiggs" Beriotti is a good bet for one tackle and either Jim Lillis or Odd Hope is likely to be the other. The guards probably will be "Sheriff" Fasano and Don Smith with Don Harsberger or Bob Woelf as center.

The backfield will undoubtedly be led by Bernie Mallon as quarter back, who was the regular end last year. Pete Prudent, if he recovers from his operation in time, is the natural choice for a hard driving full back. At least six who have returned have a good chance for the halback posts. Doug Rogers, 'Duck" Swan, Joe Lamberti, Bill Effertz, Harold Marro, John Hooper, and Kenny Iverson all have been given trials in active scrimmage.

This year's team averages only one hundred and seventy pounds a man -much lighter than last year's pile drivers.

Walt Saccarecia, a potential first string back, has suffered a first serious injury this year. While working out on the first team in a scrim-mage against the second last Friday, Walt's left collar bone snapped. Coach was trying out a new play with "Sac" as a blocking back. Evidently he blocked a little too hard. It is quite a loss to the team, as he was considered one of the best backfield men on the squad.

and the collection of business letters. From Junior High we have Miss Angela Mallon, who is well known for work on The Port Junior. She attended Port Washington High School, New Paltz Normal School and N.Y.U.

She has taught in the grade school, junior high, and senior high in Port Washington. Miss Mallon enjoys horseback riding and swimming, which she indulges in during both winter and summer. She also has an active interest in journalistic

Another of the new faculty members who came from Brooklyn, is Miss MacGillivray, the geometry and algebra teacher. She has previously taught in Riverhead, Long Island. Miss MacGillivray finds both the students and the faculty of the school very amicable. She enjoys playing the violin, swimming, and taking photographs. She was graduated from this senior high.
