So Endeth The Struggle ...

Yesterday, we payed a solemn tribute to those who gave their lives so that a great and democratic nation might live. The Armistice which ended World War I has become a blazing battle standard for our fighting forces. The men who are struggling today are fighting for the same purpose, an ultimate aim of a complete and final Armistice which will bring a lasting peace to all the subjugated nations. The Armistice of 1918 is not only an Armistice of the past, but shall be a prophecy of the future.

Bigger and Better Assemblies

The idea for this year's assemblies is-by the students, for the students, and to the students. It is up to every individual to participate either directly or indirectly in some program throughout the school year.

What can you do? Well the very least you can do, is to learn the school songs. When you sing them, they should express some enthusiasm and honor for our school. We ought to make it a point to sing our school song at the end of every assembly program.

The committee for assembly programs, headed by Dick Aiken, has some good plans. May they be successful!

Gridmen Look With Regret

Tomorrow the 1943 football season will be buried under six feet of mud, blood, and broken bones. The Blue and White gridmen look with regret upon its closing. During with you other fellas? this season, although losing consistently, they have gained a new appreciation of athletics. Cooperation, condition, good sportsmanship, and a will to win all play a big part in sports. Those boys have learned many things which will serve them Tom Duncan is all alone and doin good stead in the future. And to them we say "THANKS" for giving us the thrilling diversions of a football season.OP In we'd better apologize right now

Long Live Port High! Well, we beat Great Neck and, boy, is everybody happy! But we might say right here that the cheering was really pitiful. It's a good thing that the team did not depend on the stands for moral support. Anyway we won, and that's that.

Now for Glen Cove! (are we kiddin'? . why were all the Port boys drooling over the Great Neck cheer leaders? We didn't see anything. And besides, what's wrong with our own? . . Roslyn Manhasset, Glen Cove and Little Neck were among outsiders present at the game . . . Did we see Clara Brown, "Grasshopper" don't answer that !!! .

It seems as if Trez has taken a liking to Manhasset femmes-and from what we've seen, we don't Also, Les was disblame him . appointed landed-but after all, he's not the first one to lose out to a Marine. Anyway, Les is a good sport and just to prove it he is going out with the Marine's little sister ___you guessed it—Lulu Parmelee . . . Scotty isn't all wet after all,—he's been taking out Barbara Waters they have gotten off to a very Oh, Boy, do we like (ouch!) . the new twirlers-nice goin' Myrna, Jeanie, Leona, and Loretta. Loretta was really struttin' her stuff -Bruce was home. Who wouldn't be inspired?

Dick Pfieffer has a hungry look in his eyes . . . What's this about Roslyn's Pat Kehoe, Eddie? . . Jim Bralla provided that syncopation at the Catholic Church dance Saturday nite. . . . Speaking of the dance here are a couple of the gruesome twosome . . . Joan Coffman and "Horsey" Bullis . "Drippy" Waters (ouch! again) and "Mugger" Moncada . . . Jim Bralla and his "band" (of course).

It was Navy Day around Port last week with all the V-12 students home. Dick Cromwell really was the nuts in his bell bottom trousers and eves of Navy blue. They tell us Joe was pretty mad at "Beansy," but all is forgiven now . . . Bob Dixon was just dripping with salt . . Alumni Danny Brimm plays with the Annapolis football team . . St. Stephen's Hallowe'en Hop was a complete social success . . Dick Perley has so far taken up mostt of Mabel What's a matter Lowe's time.

Steve Webber a lonesome onesome nowadays . . . Tony Cipillone will hereafter be known as "two ton"-ditto Jasper Bloomfield . . ing a good job of it too . . . I guess calling Barbara Waters drip--we just KNOW she's not - and regging your pardon if last NORTH MArolumn got anybody into really wasn't weant to

The O. G. A. has started with a bang this year. At their meeting last Wednesday, initiations of new members were conducted. Alyce Hall, Bernice Madura,

Ruth Jester, Harriet Lockman, Beryl Singleton, Angelina Dellavecchia, Sadie Licciardello, and Helen Symanski, were all put through their paces during the day when they portrayed "what a secretary shouldn't look like.'

Much fun was had by all, including the old members, Geraldine Sadlo, Virginia Sica, Mildred Teta, Wilma Sierputowski, Rose Belfiore, and Marie Brown. Miss Procelli, the faculty adviser, and Mr. Brown also attended the meeting.

The club recently held elections which had the following results: President, Geraldine Sadlo: Vice-Pres., Harriet Lockman; Corres. when the Marines | Sec., Mildred Teta; Rec. Sec., Vir-Treasurer, Marie ginia Sica; Brown.

> The O. G. A., one of the most outstanding clubs in the school, intends to have many interesting and beneficial meetings during the course of the year, and so far good start.

Traffic Squad

The Traffe Squad of Fort Washington High School is organized to maintain order in the halls as the classes pass.

People should go to their classes the shortest and fastest way. Two minutes are allowed to get to the classes and they are sufficient providing one doesn't stop to talk on the way.

Ruth Lee Seaman, captain of our traffic squad, suggests not to gather about or talk to the traffic officers as they have a job to do.

The traffic squad, which is part of our student government, is a step to democratic way of life. Celerity

The Celerity was overjoyed at the splendid response of the students in contributing towards the stockings of the North Shore Veterans. They will have a very merry Christmas if Port Washington students have anything to say about it. Believe it or not the returns amount to $20.00, and some of the homerooms are not accounted for. Santa Claus will be kept very busy.

Another example of the generosity of the school; a beautiful knitted, all-wool, afgan which was contributed by Virginia Metz and donated to the Junior Red Cross in Mineola

. we are trying to keep this week's column 99 and 44/100% pure but so far we aren't succeeding to well . . . Cuck Rurolde is soiling the halls of our fair school (Continued on Page 3)
