Twenty-First Annual Band Concert To Be Presented Tomorrow

Play Troupe Has Hit In Cinderella

On Friday, February 22, the Port Washington Play Troupe in conjunction with Main Street School, presented the opening performance of "Cinderella," a dramatization of the famous children's story by Frances Bacon. Two other performances followed on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Tanagerman produced and directed the play, which starred Marilyn Moore as the lovely Cinderella and Denis Brady as her gallant Prince Charming. While the play was intended primarily for the grade-school set, many students from Port High attended and they all agreed that the play was very well done. The proceeds from the play will go to the School and Home Association of Main Street School.

Student Of Week

Actively participating in many school affairs, Myrna is a conscientious senior. At present she is spending most of her time carrying out the work connected with being an efficient co-editor of the art and layout staff of the "Port Light." An honor student, she is active in Circle, Clio, and the steering committee for our student council. As the capable president of Celerity she conducts and plans the monthly meetings. "Moin" as she is known to her friends, is the vice-president of the G. A. A. A member

MYRNA HOROWITZ

Beacon Shows Film On Brotherhood

Friday 22, in observance of Brotherhood Week, the Beacon Theatre presented a show free of admission. The show began promptly at 12:15 and finished at 1:15.

The films were selected shorts suitable for Brotherhood Week. Two of the films that were shown were titled, "Next Door Neighbor" and "The World We Live In."

The films seem to suit their purpose and were enjoyed by all. It was a fine gesture of Brotherhood shown by the Beacon Theatre.

Roslyn-Port Show Set For March 14

The date for the North Shore Hospital show has finally been set for March 14. This is a community show being presented jointly by Roslyn and Port Washington high schools. Each school will provide its local talent and the North Shore Hospital Fund will present its professional talent. The show will be held in both high schools with each school providing its own audience. The prepared shows will change schools on a schedule set before hand, in a way that has been proved successful in the Manhasset-Great Neck Show last February 22.

There will be one 25-minute stationary unit from each school plus a 20-minute unit from each school which will not only perform at its home base but will also perform at the other school.

The group of professional actors to appear has not yet been decided definitely, but Mel Torne, Gene Krupa Trio, Steve Allen, and Gloria De Haven have been selected tentatively.

Due to the success of the show

A Letter From Mr. MacIntosh

Bearwood Old Hall
Blackburn, Lancashire
England
11 February 1952

Dear Editors:

A momentary thaw has set in. Before the ink in my moulding typewriter freezes, I feel that now is the opportune moment to thank you and the members of the Port Weekly staff for your kindness. Indeed, Mrs. MacIntosh and I have so much enjoyed copies of the school paper, which has kept us abreast of happenings in Port High.

It is now safe to report that the students of the Blackburn Technical High School have recovered from their initial shock of last September. The girls, who had been expecting Van Johnson's double, and the boys, who had been awaiting Hopalong Cassidy, complete with belching sixshooters, a horse, and several Indian guides... got, but me, driving in state in one of "them thar" streamlined Yank cars, and not even brandishing a water pistol, confiscated during one of the spring rebellions of 105.

Seeing could not have been believing. My form (homeroom to you) interrogated me further. Its spokesmen in all seriousness asked, "Do cattle rustlers lurk around your American school? Do you have any American Indians in your classes? Is there much shooting in town? Do all policemen in Port have Irish accents?" Needless to say, my first impression of my homeroom was that it spent far too much time in Blackburn's equivalent of Ye Old Beacon Theatre. (Better put an E on OLD; I'm not showing off, but I have learned some English this year. Just think what you kids have in store for you.) For the answers to these profound questions, you must wait until next September.

Via the proverbial grapevine you have without a doubt heard that I am teaching French this year. This seems to meet with the general favor of the students—anyway to one, who decided that I, having come from America, couldn't speak English. After three

This year's Port Washington High School Band Concert will be presented tomorrow night. Danny Smith and Brenda Lu Forman will be the featured soloists, and the four first clarinetists will play a quartet called "Lady of the Lake." The band's program will be much lighter than those of the past few years, since it will feature three compositions by LeRoy Anderson, "Blue Tango," "Trumpeter's Lullaby" and "Phantom Regiment." The Brigands' Overture and Bordini's Symphony; and a series of stirring John Philip Sousa Marches complete the program.

Many band members have been working to make this twenty-first annual band concert successful. John Nolan, the president of the band, had coordinated the various committees. Tickets sales and promotion have been directed by Sandra Madenim, Barbar Wheeler, and David Griffin.

Vance Hallock, of NBC Color Television, and McCrea Cobb, one time tuba player of the Harvard band, have helped the band with staging and lighting of the concert. Mr. Hallock will conduct the band's rendition of Sousa's "Thunderer." Mrs. Spencer, local contralto, and voice teacher, will sing a few selections with the band.

Since the choir, who have been busy with The Mikado will not sing at this concert.

Fraternity Picks Ship Theme For Dance

The annual dance sponsored by Fraternity will be held Saturday, March 8. The theme for this occasion is "Fraternity Enterprise," not to be mistaken for the Flying Enterprise. The dance floor is to be decorated to resemble a ship with the entertainment, Bill Pierce and his four piece band from Manhasset, to further carry out this theme, To join in on this fun will only cost $2.00 a couple (not stags). Although the dance is not formal, the boys should wear jackets and ties. The girls should wear their Sunday best. The dance will begin at 8:30 and last until 12.

The numerous committees in preparation are: refreshments — Adami, Jankowski, Lipsett and Hehn; publicity — Pumphrey; tickets — Mr. Horton; decorations — Zahn, Smith, Caparella, Palawsky and Jacoby; and art — Stagg, Chester and Booker.

Who Should Be Student Of the Week?

Almost every week someone asks the editors: "How did he get to be 'Student of the Week?' or "Why isn't she 'Student of the Week?'" The editors are always glad to answer the first question and interested in whom you suggest should be "Student of the Week", for they may have overlooked someone who deserves this honor.

The purpose of the "Student of the Week" is to give credit to pupils who are doing outstanding things in their school. The person who is chosen should be a well-rounded person. He should have good scholastic achievement. A student who does not have an S average or better is rarely considered. The pupil should be socially well adjusted. Although the student does not have to be popular he should be a person who gets along well with other people. The student must actively participate in some extracurricular activity.

The "Student of the Week" column is intended to highlight different students, so we have the policy that anyone who was written up last year will not be written up this year. The column is reserved for students in our school only. A visitor such as Riaz Mahmood would not be chosen as "Student of the Week". A person is sometimes chosen because he has a lot of current news value but this is not true all the time.

College's Opinion Of Our Activities

Most students who plan to go to college are interested in what the colleges think of High School activities. To discover what admissions officers thought The Port Weekly wrote to 12 colleges, 10 of which replied. These colleges and universities were chosen because they were representative of either the large co-educational college, the small co-educational college, the technical school, the men's college or the women's college. The colleges that answered were:

- Cornell University
- Duke University
- Syracuse University
- Swarthmore College
- Ohio Wesleyan University
- Massachusetts Institute of Technology
- Vassar College
- Williams College
- Washington and Lee University

The Port Weekly asked: "What significance do you attach to belonging to honor clubs"...and asked them to "state what help student activities (not athletics) give towards admission to your college."

Vassar College

The membership in a long list of clubs would not necessarily strengthen the candidate's chances for admission, and the club memberships would not offset serious weakness in her academic work. We are interested, of course, in having students who have taken some part in school activities and have belonged to at least some of the clubs at the school. We think that in college, too, a student should take part in some one or more activities outside her academic work, but we urge our freshmen not to get so much involved in extracurricular activities that she will

Clio

At the regular monthly meeting of the history club Jay Greene gave a very interesting report on Williamsburg, Virginia, Washington, D. C., and Mt. Vernon. He discussed the restoration of colonial Williamsburg, and several of its notable features, including the Governor's palace, House of Burgesses, colonial taverns, and the "publick gaol" (jail). Jay's talk was accompanied by colored slides. The information on Washington was supplied by Denis (Prince Charming) Brady.

Laeti Laetini

The Vergilians of the Latin Club are planning to present a take-off on "The Aeneid." The popular idea seems to be to present the sketch in the form of a comical shadow play, complete with costumes and the necessary props. The club will probably present this project to its Great Neck visitors, and if it is appreciated by them, it may be given in one of our assemblies.

Happy Birthday

Last Monday, February 25, Preston Pumphrey was serenaded by his fellow Port Weekly cohorts. To the accompaniment of an off-tune birthday salute, Olga Osterholm presented Preston with this little poem:

"Today's the birthday of the Pump
 So let's be sweet and brief —
 Break out the case of whiskey, men—
 And - HAPPY BIRTHDAY,

Band Concert

The band concert is scheduled for March 1 at 8:30. The selections for the concert will be lighter than usual. The numbers that will be played are: Bordin Second Symphony, Leroy Anderson's "Blue Tango" and the "Phantom Regiment," "Rio Grande," Strauss Waltzes, and several of John Philip Sousa's marches. Brenda Lu Forman will play a piano solo, "Dream of Alwen," to the accompaniment of the band. Dan Smith will play the "Trumpeter's Lullaby," and the first clarinetists, Sandra Madeheim, Cherry McClure, Nancy Stover, and Al

Things & Stuff

At long last it is here! Leap year! The delightful three-hundred sixty-six day period when it is open season on males! The time when we poor girls finally have a chance to pick on—I mean pick OUT—the lovely males we want! The happy time when we can do something besides sit primly back and wait for the men to come across. Oh happy, happy leap year!

Certainly you lucky girls don't want this once-every-four-year opportunity to pass you by. You don't want to take inventory at the end of the year and find that you have no pretty little men to your credit. So here are some tips you might follow.

1. Be subtle. Don't overdo it. Remember—a few light taps with a rubber hose are far more effective than a blast of dynamite—although some girls prefer this method because its effects are more lasting.
2. Be brave. Don't be afraid of the man—he is a human being just like you, and is probably more scared of you than you are of him.
3. Be original. Don't use the old-fashioned, out-moded tricks like flirting or giving that "come-hither" look. Use your ingenuity. The best way to get a boy to have a date with you is to knock him out with a baseball bat. When he comes to, thank him kindly for asking you out. What can he do?
4. Be up-to-date. No boy likes to be seen with a girl who wears hoop skirts, or who is otherwise behind the times. You might use some of that new perfume called "You-get-him-pickled — we'll-do-the-rest" which is guaranteed to get your man for you.

To sum it up, I want you all to take advantage of the great opportunity given you by leap year. If you follow my advice, I'm sure you will get results. If you have any questions, you can contact me at the home for Old Maids.

Well, here we are back again after three grueling weeks of lots of holidays. Everyone had a lot of fun and here's what was doing

Three Fridays ago Nina Stephenson and Elinor Mallon went to the Glen Cove Movies with two boys from Chaminade. At the Beacon that Saturday night were Joyce Crooker and Pete Horr, Jean Mosher and Terry Morgan, and Elinor Mallon and Galvin Murphy from Bayside.

At the game two Fridays ago, were Jean McGregor and Pete Paulding, Judy Neely and Tommy Hines, Cris and Pete, Dee Dee and Bob, Joan and Dave, Denyse and Dick, Carol Flynn and Kip Fried, Fred Johnson and Sue Brownlee, Anne Guerry and John Nolan, Arline and Bial, Lee Ann and Eddie Sloane, Marge and George Adami, Linda and Tom.

That Saturday night, Connie and George, Joyce Burroughs and Langdon Cutright, Cris and Pete, Judy and Tom had a terrific time bowling in Manhasset. Also on the same night, Bob Doncourt had a hilarious open house. Some of the couples seen running around were Bob and Doris Haviland, Barbara and Tommy Cosolito, Pat Smith and Pete H., Elenor Roth and Don Seifts, Agnes and Johnny Zahn, and Sandra Fitz and Dave Runyon.

On the same Saturday night Barbara Lynch had a small party. Barbara and Preston Pumphrey, Janet Ackerley and Jay Greene, and Janet Kuhl and Denis Brady all had a hilarious time. Saturday night at the movies were Peggy and Tony, Marilyn and Johnny D., Leona Doyle and Bill Brown, and Mickey and Doug Murray.

Sunday Kate Stowe had a riotous hen party with plenty of stags present. Also, the same night, V-Ann had a slumber party. Of course, V-Ann, Dee Dee, Judy Neely, Ann Leonard, Dody, and Cris didn't do much sleeping but they had fun anyway.

Monday night Cris and Pete, Judy and Tommy, Dee Dee and Bob, Marian Ciminera and Dave Hess, Jean and Pete, Malcolm Hill and Joyce Nystrom, and Fred Johnson and Sue Brownlee, weeks of classes, funnily enough, I discovered that the pupils here didn't speak English either, but used patois, known as the Lancashire dialect. It took some weeks for me to completely understand what my students were saying, and I was indeed grateful that we had at least one language in common... FRENCH!!

The winter here has been extremely cold and damp. As a matter of fact, the weather forms a marvelous basis for beginning a conversation, and to know what is going to happen from one hour to the next is virtually impossible. Warm winds from the south have violent battles with cold winds from the plains of Siberia, the net result of which can be torrential rains, a blizzard, a hail storm, a sleet storm, or a combination of all. 'Tis fun guessing what will happen next! However, the natives, as well as the MacIntoshes, are looking forward to spring.

At the moment, all of England is saddened by the death of her King, a most wonderful ruler and family man. The new Queen certainly has great responsibility for her young years, but she appears to be a most capable person, one in whom her people have placed their confidence.

Again thank you for sending us THE PORT WEEKLY, and please convey our very best wishes to the faculty and students of Port High.

after the movies had a real brawl.

Also Monday night, Lee had a small party of girls. The hens were Sally Robertson, Nancy McDonough, Fay Spratt, Dot DeMeo, and Suzy Blair. Jane Litchfield had Sue Hall, Lillian, Linda Schneeloch, and Kate Stow over Monday night.

Flash !!! Laurie Newbold and Betty Brown, Joyce Crooker and Pete Horr, and Jean Mosher and Terry Morgan are now going steady. Good luck kids!

Friday before last at the movies were Marilyn Fanshaw, and Johnny Davidson, Mickey Compere and Doug Murray, Barbara McKelevy and Bill Adams and Peggy Hoffer and Tony Della-vecchia.

Saturday before last Judy Westrom had a few girls over. Seen there were Dot DeMeo, Janet Oswald, Jane Litchfield, Sue Hall, Margot Lenke, Lillian Blanc, Kate Stow, Embeth Stumpf, Linda Schneeloch, and lots of boys. At the movies the same night were Dick Stagg and Denyse Duval, Linda Schneeloch and Tom Christie. Sue Brownlee and Fred Johnson and Joyce Burroughs and Randy Dietz went roller-skating in Mineola and had a wonderful time. At the Villa Nova Club the same night were Joan Ludeker and Bob Lang and Joan Smith and Mike Matero.

Last Friday night a whole load of kids went to see Cinderella and enjoyed it very much. Some of the couples were Cris and Pete, Dee Dee and Bob, Joy and Randy, Sue Brownlee and Fred Johnson, Marni and Al DeMeo, Mickey Compere and Doug Murray, Martha Sykes and Len Utz, Nina Stephenson and Mike Mander, Anne Tuck and Tiny McDonald, Janet Clugston and Wally Fearon, and Janet Kuhl and Denis Brady.

Basketball has continued according to schedule. The varsity has been playing a series of games with other schools. So far the Varsity team has won all of its games but the J. V. team has lost most of its games. The class teams played Sewanhaka here and all of the teams, except the senior team, won their games. The varsity and J. V. teams have also played against Syosset and Friends Academy. After the varsity and J. V. teams have completed their season the Blue and White basketball teams will be chosen for the color war.

Speaking of the color war, work has already gotten well under way. The captains have had several meetings and are planning the entrances. Cheering try-outs for the color war were held for both teams but the results were announced too late for publication in this issue. The tumbling teams for both the Blue and White teams have been chosen and are as follows: Blues—S. Smith, V-Ann Klump, A. Sloane, Hall, R. Lomazzo, D. Duval, N. L. Schneeloch, and M. Moore; Whites—N. Nataloni, C. Knobloch, M. Lipton, I. Rice, P. Haron, P. Mori, S. Brownlee and B. Gagne.

The color war takes place in less than a month so everyone should get busy and work hard to make it a big success. The date is Friday, March 28.

Well, tonight's the night! It's the last game of the season and the most important. Ever since Port lost to Mineola, the first game of the season, they've been looking for revenge throughout the whole season; at first simply for vengeance sake, but now the game has taken on a new complexion. Great Neck is now in top position in the league having finished the season with eight wins and two losses. The Portmen have a seven and two record with the Mineola contest the only remaining game on their schedule. At press time the county seaters had two games to go, one with Glen Cove on Tuesday and the one with Port. If they beat Glen Cove, and they should, they will be tied with the Blue and White for second place. The winner of the game tonight will earn a tie with the Blazers for first place and therefore a play-off game for the right to meet the Eastern Division victors. In the first encounter between the two teams Mineola took a close one 53-41. The game was very even for the first three quarters, but then the countyseaters broke loose and went on to win. That game it will be remembered was played on Port's home court and the Costellomen have yet to lose an away game. Last year Port Beat the Maroons on their own court but lost to them at home. We'll soon see how it happens this year.

played in Glen Cove two weeks ago. Port suffered from overconfidence in the game and the Covers did much better than anyone expected even though their star O'Rourke graduated at midterm. The first half was a toss up and very slow, ending up at 19 all. During half time intermission Port got hold of themselves and started to pull away slowly. The game ended 54-46 in favor of the visitors. . .

The game with Great Neck was played on Monday afternoon. It was just the opposite of the former game. Port took an early lead 16-8 and then had it cut to 28-27 at the half. The Blazers pulled to within three points 41-38 at the third stanza and finally forged in front 54-51 at the final buzzer.

Garden City invaded Port last week. City's terrific height kept the Costellomen's score down and at the same time helped them to tally consistantly. The Trojans were ahead at the half by three points, but in the third quarter Port tied it up at 30 all. The rest of that quarter the two teams matched each other basket for basket and it ended 38-38. The last stanza nearly matched the third, neither team gaining much of a lead. The losers did pile up a five point lead but two buckets and a foul toss matched that. With just ten seconds left Port lead 60-58 and Mayer was fouled. His two perfect shots brought the crowd to its feet and they never had a chance to sit down as JR Laucella took a fast breaking lay up which dropped through with less than five seconds to go. The buzzer sounded before any further scoring occurred and the home crowd went wild.
