Student of Week

"I have worked hard and so have received a great deal from high school," said Michael Ciminera, student of the week.

Academically, Mike is among the finest, ranking eleventh in his class with an average of 1.48. He has held an office in his home-room every year: as a sophomore, president; as a junior, secretary; and this year, treasurer. Mike is also a member of Retort and Circle.

For the past year and one half Mike has been employed at the New York Remnant Shop. This has helped to round him out to the well-liked person he is.

In September, Mike plans to enter the freshman class at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute where he will study for a career in aeronautical engineering. In preparation for this field, Mike's hobby, airplanes, has led him to send in many sketches to engineering magazines. At this point, Mike is competing for the Gruman scholarship to advance his study further.

'Wonder Five' Play Feb. 2 For T. Brown

On February 2 the Port Washington Police Department's "Wonder Five" will play the Long Island "Panthers" in a benefit basketball game for Patrolman Tom Brown, director of the Port Washington Police Athletic League. The game will be played in the Paul D. Schreiber High School gymnasium, starting at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $1.10 each.

Sherman White, one time All-American, Floyd Layne, Tom Vincent, Bob McDonald, "Showboat" Dumpson, Frank Greenish, and Leroy Smith are the featured stars in the game.

Mr. George Horton is handling the sale of tickets. Both Fraternity and P.A.L. members are selling tickets. A goal of two thousand dollars has been set for the amount of money to be given Mr. Brown for the medical expenses incurred during his illness.

Rehearsals for "Arsenic and Old Lace," the Red Domino play, are becoming more intense as opening night approaches. February 11 and 12 will be the first time in the club's history that a play was produced for two nights. Admission is 50 cents for students and $1.00 for adults.

G.O. Reviews Rules For Student Book

At the recent Student Council meeting, a book of rules for Paul D. Schreiber High School students was reviewed by the members with Mr. Schafer. Although most of the rules are now being observed by students and faculty, several of the rules are new or changed. These rules will go into effect on January 31, the beginning of the second term. In May homeroom meetings will be held for discussion of the rules and possible changes or additions.

Tribute To A Friend

Patrolman Tom Brown has, in the past, been one of Port Washington's most outstanding men combatting juvenile delinquency. He believed that delinquency must be fought before it becomes too prevalent. As a result, Patrolman Brown has been the mainspring in the delicate machinery of keeping our town free and clean of impurities.

His work with the Police Athletic League has been recognized by many of the outstanding citizens of Port Washington, as well as by both student and civic bodies. Even at his old stand at Sands Point School, he never failed to keep his many young visitors occupied with a basketball. His memory for a face has never failed him, and he is known for remembering each and every person's good points and bringing them out as much as possible.

We the students of Paul D. Schreiber High School wish to acknowledge the wonderful work that Patrolman Brown has done for Port Washington. He has devoted his spare time and given up many of his pleasures for the good of Port's youth.

Mr. Ehre said, "The play is shaping up beautifully with lots of surprises in store. When the play is over there is going to be a brand new group of stars in the school, and, I think, an injection of new blood into high school dramatics."

There are many people in this school who never get into the limelight, but given a good part can prove themselves on the stage," commented Mr. Ehre.

One of these people is Michael McCaskey. Playing the part of Teddy, the crazy brother of the Brewster sisters, Mike interprets the part very well. In his first dramatic role he shows talent for portraying character parts.

Ed McGuire, head of exploitations, has thought up many clever P.A. publicity stunts for the play. Judy Nicoll has become co-director of make-up along with Barbara Brindley. Stage manager Bunny Dervin has been hard at work to organize the behind-the-scenes activities.

Celerity Plans Hop For February 22

February 22, a Tuesday during vacation, is the date set for the annual Celerity dance. In keeping with tradition, it is to be a hop, girls ask the boys. This is the first hop this school year, so the girls should start thinking who they are going to ask. Music will probably be provided by Bucky Walker and his band.

Proceeds from the dance will be donated to the Sloane-Kettering Institute. A memorial fund in the name of the late Mildred Piazza, former biology teacher and faculty adviser of Celerity, was set up at the institute. Committees for the dance have been set up and more will be known about it at a later date.

Jan. 28: Basketball with Manhasset, home.

Jan. 28: Record Dance after the game.

Feb. 2: Benefit Game in PDSHS gym.

Feb. 4: Basketball with Glen Cove, away.
