Student of Week

ROBERT HARTLEY

After much protesting by Bob Hartley, a semblance of an interview with this Student of the Week was obtained. Bob divulged the following information concerning himself with many reservations.

With the remarkable average of 3.21 Bob ranks in the top 10 percent of his senior class. With this average we find Bob a member of Circle, Retort, and Clio, PDSHS's honor societies. In addition to his high scholastic achievements this loquacious Student of the Week has contributed much to the extra-curricular life of PDSHS.

His pet project is our recently formed school store. Bob is a director and treasurer of this club. Dramatics have also held an important part of his high school life. As a sophomore he joined Jr. Red Domino and continued in his junior year to the Senior Red Domino, and director of the junior class play. In his junior year Bob was also invited to join the Wheels Club (Junior Rotary) based on his high average. This year we find Bob as President of Bibliophiles, Editor of PDSHS's Literary Magazine, alternate Student Council representative, and Business Manager of the Picture Supplement of Port Light. During his high school years Bob has also been active in the Chess and Debating Clubs.

Outside school Bob is an avid reader and an ardent fan of classical music. One of his favorite avocations is card games (of the gambling variety).

Bob Hartley's future plans include further education at Harvard, Amherst, or Yale.

Musicians To Give Pre-Xmas Concert

Concert-goers of PDSHS will be entertained by the Port High music department on Sunday afternoon, December 15. The program, with music in keeping with the holidays, promises to be an enjoyable one.

The chorus will perform under its new director, Mr. Fish. A newcomer to the music department, Mr. Fish has been with us a little over a month, but before he joined the music staff, he did some of his student teaching here. Members of the chorus will sing "I Have a Little Dreydel," "Christmas Hymn," "Alle Trinita," and "Ah, Meadow."

Band members are already getting in the spirit of the season, rehearsing such numbers as "Christmas Festival" and "Sleigh Ride." Mr. Christopher will also conduct some concert marches such as "On the Esplanade" and "Elmira."

Mr. Mesrobian will direct the orchestra in many well-known numbers including "Greensleeves," music from "The King and I," and "A Mighty Fortress is Our God." Other numbers to be presented are "Gavato Staccato," "King Solomon," and "The Typewriter," a novelty number requiring a typewriter, washboard and a gourd.

Sectional Hosts Port Musicians

On November 22 and 23, members from the band and orchestra of PDSHS participated in the Long Island Sectional All-State Band and Orchestra. Several students attending demonstrated exceptional ability.

In the band Richard Verdi, was chosen first bass clarinet. In the orchestra first seats were won by Leila Gross, clarinet; Debby Brown, oboe; Elaine Snall; French horn;

H. S. Office Lists 69 Honor Students

At the end of each marking period, the office compiles a list of students that have succeeded in making the honor roll. Competition is always keen between the three classes to see which one can boast of the most names on the honor roll. This marking period finds the seniors out ahead with a grand total of thirty note-worthy students. The sophomore class de-

G. O. Dance To Feature Frosty Fantasy Dec. 14

PDSHS's gym will be transformed into a "Fantasy in Frost" as the G. O. sponsors its annual dance on December 14, from 8:30 to 12:30. Couples will swing and sway to the music of John Scott and his band.

Students Orated In G. O. Contest

On Friday, November 22, the annual oratorical contest was held. This popular assembly was under the direction of "Doc" Ehre. This year each participant spoke on a topic of his own choosing, and although it was not required, quite a few of the speeches were original.

The speakers in the order of their appearances were as follows. Arthur Foy gave his speech, "Joan of Arc"; then John Buno spoke against capital punishment. Bill Rayner presented "The Tragedy of Warren G. Harding," and Ruth Sundstrom spoke on superstition. The obituary of Curly, the satellite dog, was presented next by Leslie Gilbert, and Pat McCabe delivered, "The Plea of the Unknown Soldier." The ways to achieve a good student-teacher relationship were enumerated by Bill Schaefer, and Barbara Tallering gave her speech on Helen Keller. To conclude the competition Dave Duvel spoke on creativity, Elaine Fuchs on good citizenship, and Marty Sue Nowak on a young couple on the "U.S.S. Titanic."

After much deliberation the judges announced the winners at the end of the eighth period. The first prize of five dollars was awarded to Barbara Tallering, Dave Duvel won four dollars for second place, and Pat McCabe was awarded the third prize of three dollars. Marty Sue Nowak and Bill Schaefer tied for fourth place and split the two dollar prize. The fifth prize of one dollar was won by Elaine Fuchs.

Ray Lumi is heading the dance committee and decorations are being handled by Linda Gale's committee. The planned decorations include holly, Christmas trees, and all the usual festive holiday trimmings. The theme will be carried out by the use of blue and white lights and much tinsel.

Tate Ann Hunter, heading the refreshment committee, will provide punch and cakes for the dance. Tate Ann commented when asked about the quality of her refreshments, "These should be the best ever, especially with the secret punch recipe we are using. Why don't you come to the dance and sample it?" In general everyone on the G. O. is being drafted to work on the dance, which is just about one week away.

Admission will be $2.25 per couple and $3.00 for stags.

Mystery Baby

Do you know this boy?

This baby has grown up to be one of the best liked teachers here at PDSHS. He is sports-minded, and likes all popular sports. Although he enjoys drawing, he has little opportunity to do so, in his present occupation. He is a commuter who drives to Port Washington from Greenvale, his birthplace. Our Mystery Baby was graduated from the Roslyn Public Schools system, and then
