Best, Mann, Mayers Meell Featured in Brigadoon

Brigadoon, a fantasy play by Learner and Lowe, who also wrote My Fair Lady, and Paint Your Wagon, will be presented as the first of many performances this year by the Schreiber Department of the Performing Art.

The play involves a Scottish village of the 1700's that miraculously reappears for one day in the present and is accidentally discovered by two hunters from New York City. A problem arises when one of the hunters falls in love with a village girl and must resolve whether he should stay in the past with her or return to the present where he belongs. Many comical lines run throughout the play because of the conflict of the village's out of date culture with that of the hunter.

Chosen by its director, Mr. Jones, because of its "challenge, for a good performance, excellent songs, its fantasy, quality, and good costumes and scenery," Brigadoon will be presented this November. In the meantime much practice is being done by the over 50 cast members, especially because of the solo and group dancing, the intricate music, and demanding acting.

The major roles consist of the two Scottish girls, Fione (played by Melissa Mann) and Meg (Missy Meell) and the American hunters Tommy (Steve Best) and Jeff (Ron Mayers). The featured dancers will be Sue Caplan and Bob Rogan. The choreography will be done by Rodney Griffin, who has done performance at Lincoln Center, and Karen Mitchell, a student teacher. The music will be conducted by Mr. Stone.

NSA Elections Held This Fri.

The Committee on Student Government, which organized the New Student Assembly last spring, met for the first time this year on Monday, September 13. Attending the meeting along with 15 Committee members were Mr. McCarthy and Mr. Berry.

Plans were made to hold elections for a new Student Assembly on Friday, September 24th. One voting representative and one alternate will be chosen from each homeroom. Assembly meetings will also be open on an informal basis to any student who wants to participate in them. Meetings will be held after school.

Replacing Mr. McCarthy as faculty advisor for the "political" aspect of the student government is Mr. Banta of the History department. Mr. Mark Rothman will be the faculty advisor in charge of the concession stand at the football games. Two committee members, Barbara Basser and Roy Smitheimer, agreed to assume the responsibility of ordering the food and operating the stand.

During the second meeting, held on Sept. 17, plans for the election of representatives were finalized and a student government - sponsored student telephone directory was discussed.

Will Mr. MacIntosh contribute his polka dot pants to the yearbook auction? Mr. Rothman his "life studies"? Mr. Russell a copy of his "apathy" speech? Miss Schafflander her shortest miniskirt?

These questions and more will be answered when the yearbook staff, headed by Tim Bogen, holds an auction for the purpose of raising funds. All items to be auctioned will be donated by the faculty. Time and place will be announced.

Jrs., Sophs Also Get IDs

As part of the new open campus policy, in which juniors and sophomores follow an on-campus policy and seniors have a total open campus, identification cards have been issued to all senior students. Junior and sophomore identification cards will be issued as soon as possible.

Mr. Russell said that the program cannot exist by traditional means of enforcement. It will only work if there is a relationship of trust and confidence established between the students, faculty, and administration.

Mr. Russell added that disciplinary action will have to be taken in cases where students consistently take advantage of the program. He assured the Schreiber Times that identification cards would be checked only by educational personnel.

"In terms of public support," he added, "we must succeed, or it is certain that the whole school program will be in jeopardy."

Mr. Bartels said in another interview that if a student is found downtown without a red senior identification card, he will be suspended from school.

Students, Parents, Teachers Petition for Open Lunch

Many students and parents were asked to sign petitions last week asking for an "Open Lunch" policy for Juniors and Sophomores. Over 1,000 of Schreiber's 1,600 students signed. A lot of people, however, don't realize what else has been going on about this request. Here are the facts:

On September 2nd, eight students wrote a letter to the Board of Education. The letter stated that, "We feel that open campus during lunch is an asset in improving the atmosphere of our school".

The letter also asked for a meeting between the Board, the Administration, the students, and their parents to discuss the possibility of open lunch.

On September 10th, letters were received by most of the students from Superintendent McGuigan. This letter told the "petitioners" that, "We do not intend to make any changes in the Master Plan before it has been given a fair chance to operate". Mr. McGuigan also sent letters to the parents of these students saying, "... Perhaps a few words from you will help your youngster understand that these rules are necessary..."

A meeting is planned in the near future to discuss the present situation with the student body.

CRACK-DOWN ON CUTS

New penalties for homeroom lateness and class-cutting are in effect this year.

All students must be in homeroom by 8:15. The first three times a student is late he will be reminded of the rule. The fourth time he is late a letter will be sent home to the parents. The fifth time he is late his parents will have to come to school before he is readmitted to school. For any lateness after this, he will be suspended for two days.

Students must attend all assigned classes. If a student cuts one class, a letter will be sent to his parents. After two cuts, his parents will have to come to the school for a conference before he is readmitted to the school. For every time the student cuts thereafter, he will be suspended for three days.

Choir Plans Tour

Sponsors Fund Raising Events

Schreiber's Varsity Choir, under the direction of Jerald B. Stone, is planning a concert tour of Europe for twelve days next spring.

The choir officers chose two of the various itineraries submitted by various airlines. The first is a twelve day tour of Amsterdam, Paris and Brussels through the facilities of K.L.M. an organization known as "Concerts Abroad, Inc." whose sole purpose is arranging concerts for groups, such as the choir. The other tour would be to such cities as Munich, Vienna, Dunsbruck and Zurich. Both tour prices would include breakfast, dinner, hotel, guide and transportation.

The trip will cost between $400 and $480 per person. There are fifty-eight choir members and four faculty members who are planning to go on the trip.

The Varsity Choir is sponsoring a number of events at Schreiber during the school year in order to raise money for this trip to Europe.

Saturday, Sept. 11 they had a carwash. The students worked from 9:00 A.M. to 4:00 P.M. in the rain. They charged $1.75 for a wash and vacuum job and $15.00 for a simonize. They made $61.00 profit.

Friday night, Sept. 17 at 7:30 was movie night in the Schreiber auditorium. The choir showed the movies, "Dracula" and "Duck Soup" with the Marx Brothers. Saturday afternoon, Sept. 18 the choir showed "The Three Stooges in Orbit" and "The Adventures of Robin Hood" for children.

Sept. 25 they are planning to have another carwash in the back of Schreiber. The time and prices will be the same as for the first carwash.

S.A.M. Plans

This year the Student Action Movement will continue to work in cooperation with the Full Circle Association of New York City, renovating abandoned tenements in Spanish Harlem.

The chairman of S.A.M., Doug Cohen, is now looking for assistance from Zero Population Growth to a) form a birth control information service for Schreiber students and (b) to provide transportation to New York City for low-cost abortions.

David Smith is organizing a project to raise funds for the Community Action Council, by having major polluters indicted and by collecting (according to New York State law) half of the imposed fines.

Smoking Area Closed

No Butts About It

On Wednesday, Sept. 15, Mr. Bartels announced that for one week students would not be allowed to smoke within the smoking area. The students had been accused of making too much noise and disturbing the classes. He has put a ban on eating on the Schreiber school grounds "because the place has become a pigsty."

"If and when students come to me with an organization with the responsibility to police the area," he said, he will let the students eat outside again "on a trial basis" only.

Guidance Taps

TAS

A Teacher Advisory Service has been put into operation this year by a group of volunteer teachers and the guidance department to help students adjust easily to the new modular scheduling system.

Each one of over fifty volunteers is assigned fifteen sophomore students to advise on how to use their free time, on how to adjust to the new, bigger building with looser rules than those of the Junior Highs. The teacher advising is used in addition to guidance counseling and is open for all juniors and seniors by request.

The teacher advisors do not evaluate the students' work; their purpose is to propose methods of organization and give the students options to help them improve their work. To accomplish this, conferences between the advisors and their students will be held every three weeks. It is hoped that the TAS will bring the faculty and students closer together and at the same time try to help the students improve their work.

Grading Policy Needs Clarification

Last winter, when the school board was deciding whether or not to adopt flexible modular scheduling, it was discovered that neither students nor faculty were satisfied with the present system of grading. A committee composed of an equal number of students and teachers was formed by Mr. Russell to suggest revisions in the grading system.

Last spring, the Grading Committee met regularly, interviewing administrators, teachers, students, psychologists, and college admissions officers in order to secure a variety of opinions from which to formulate a balanced and workable set of recommendations.

Last June, the committee published its report, which included a philosophy of grading, specific recommendations, and future plans. Since then we've heard nothing about either the adoption or rejection of the proposals by the administration.

The opening of school emphasized the need for evaluating students' performances. Teachers, students, and administration have agreed that the present grading system is unsatisfactory, and since the report came out, many teachers are confused as to which grading system to use. It is imperative that the administration make a decision on these proposals now.

Policy Statement

Because people don't always question what they read, and because the facts aren't always available to them, it has become easy for newspapers to survive on sensational and "yellow" journalism. They distort the facts, and appeal to the readers' emotions to create a certain point of view.

It is much more difficult for a news staff to consistently produce a paper in which the articles are thoroughly researched and objective. The Schreiber Times hopes to achieve this degree of responsibility.

1. A school newspaper must report on the school community as a whole. We therefore will attempt to maintain a proper balance; reporting on the actions of all the diverse groups in Schreiber, and expressing the opinions of the whole student body.
2. News articles will present the facts in an objective manner.
3. Opinions of the staff will be reserved for the editorial column.
4. We will print any letter, submitted by any member of the community, provided that it is not libelous, is not over 250 words (in which case we reserve the right to cut it), and is not a political announcement endorsing a candidate for office. We must know the author's name, although we will withhold it if requested.
5. Although the Schreiber Times has a faculty advisor, IT IS NOT CENSORED in any way. This is a newspaper run by the students and is intended for the school community.

NEW TEACHERS

Miss Vaughn is a new girls physical education teacher at Schreiber. She received her education at Ithaca College in Ithaca, New York. Up to the present she lived in Harvard, Massachusetts. During the school year, Miss Vaughn will coach Track and Field, Bowling, and Lacrosse.

Mrs. Krupskie is one of the two new girls physical education teachers at Schreiber this year. Her history is mainly tied to Long Island. She attended High School in Suffolk County and went on to College at the University of Bridgeport. She received her B.S. there and then went on to Smith College to receive her masters. She then taught at Smith for two years. Last year she taught at Hauppauge Junior High School. In the Fall, Mrs. Krupskie is managing the fencing club and in the spring she will do the same for the dance club.

Mr. Grosmark is back as the head of Schreiber's Science department after a year's sabbatical leave.

Mr. Grosmark spent the school year and last summer taking science and education courses at the University of Maryland for his Ph. D. degree in Science education. He calls it "One of the greatest years I ever had." He and fourteen other "science supervisors" worked at the University on a grant from the National Science Foundation.

Now that he's back at Schreiber, he sees "a big increase in informality, a more relaxed attitude between teachers and students" since modular scheduling was put into effect. The science department is "using every bit of space" to accommodate small-group classes, and has "switched from texts to reference books and a wealth of ditto material."

Mrs. Selwitz, who has her B.A. in biology, teaches biology at Schreiber. She's working towards her master's degree in Science Education at Adelphi. Asked her views on modular scheduling, Mrs. Selwitz responded that with modular scheduling, "you just do not get bored. There is so much free time to see people." Aside from biology, Mrs. Selwitz enjoys travelling. Her philosophy of life is that, "all people should be honest with each other."

Miss Bachrach, a new member to the biology department at Schreiber, attended S.U.N.Y. at Stony Brook and received a B.S. in biology. In her spare time, Miss Bachrach sews and reads. She takes an "inductive" approach to teaching.

Born in China, high schooled in Canada, graduated from City College with a degree in Fine Arts, Mrs. Ma worked as an interior decorator in Scotland and as a teacher of art at the elementary and high school level, before coming to teach at Schreiber. She is interested mainly in "design" and is now working on Chinese brush-painting. Mrs. Ma also enjoys swimming, tennis, and water sports.

Mr. Darling, whose teaching philosophy is expressed by "Art is the experience: experience is living," attended the Rhode Island School of Design and received a Bachelor of Fine Arts degree. Mr. Darling's hobbies include everything from music to books to the theatre.

Mrs. Mary Harley, who says her favorite pastimes are reading and thinking, is teaching Psychology and Sociology at Schreiber this year. She graduated from Hunter College, earned a Master's Degree in Political Science at Rutgers University, and now is working on a second Masters Degree in Guidance Counseling at Long Island University. She enjoys an "extremely relaxed" atmosphere at Schreiber and feels that "modular scheduling is making learning much more of a joy." Mrs. Harley likes to do things her own and for herself, and she has designed and made many of her own clothes.

Mrs. Ruth Diamond, who substituted at Schreiber last spring, will be teaching American Studies here for the first semester this year. She is enthusiastic about "a new excitement, a sense of adventure, feel here this year." One of Mrs. Diamond's hobbies is bridge, and she is already working with students to organize a new Bridge Club. She was graduated from Queens College and lives in Greenvale, N.Y.

Mr. Zaslevsky, who is a new member of the Library-Media staff, is from Illinois. He graduated from Temple University where he received his B.A. and M.A. He is interested in photography and says he would "like to get to know Long Island and New York City better."

Before assuming the position of Director of the Schreiber library and library resource center, Miss Gearhard was the "Library Media Specialist for the International School System of South America and Europe" and a Young Adult Consultant of the Nassau Library System." Miss Gearhard was attracted to Schreiber because of "its innovative program, which out of necessity, makes the resource center a very active part of the school." She hopes to transfer the magazines and popular fiction into another room which would be used for "relaxing."

Social Studies teachers have a new office.

Math, English, Lang., Sci. Resource Centers

There are many resource centers available in the school in which students may study in their self-structured time.

In the old Psychological Services room is an air-conditioned resource center. Here students find films, cassettes and 8mm. loops for English, history, physical education, industrial arts, and home economics.

The math resource center is in one half of room 1. There are tables on which students work and text books available to students. There is usually a math teacher in the room to answer any questions a student may have.

The language resource center is in part of room 12. There are magazines and books for students to read. Teachers are in this room and will help students who are having difficulties in a language.

The English and history resource center is in room 214. This is the largest one and contains many pamphlets, magazines, books and mimeograph sheets.

Although the science department has no resource center as such, students may use any of the books from room 133. They may use these books in any room in the science wing. There are usually teachers in room 133 who will answer any questions that a student may have.

AT SCHREIBER

Mrs. McKenzie has come to Schreiber as a permanent teacher after substituting for the past two years in the Port school system. Mrs. McKenzie, who is very optimistic about modular scheduling, stated that "Schreiber is a marvelous school that provides an ideal climate for students and teachers to have a really good exchange, and for the students to have a really good exchange with each other." Mrs. McKenzie, who is currently working towards her M.A. in English, enjoys writing poetry.

Miss Fici, a student teacher last year at Schreiber for a couple of months, also taught for the remainder of the year at Copiague High School. Miss Fici feels that "Schreiber's people are real people." She loves modular scheduling because it allows for much flexibility, and also enjoys reading, and a variety of sports. Miss Fici is working towards her masters in English. She is teaching a variety of writing courses, a literature course, and Speak-Up, an informal speech course which enables student communication through words.

Mr. Labrocca, a Math teacher, came to Schreiber because he was, "interested in the change from traditional teaching to modular scheduling." A graduate of Michigan State, now attending night school at Queens College, Mr. Labrocca finds the teachers and the students to be, "very congenial." He is "interested in Math, a lot." Also, he enjoys chess, bowling, watching the San Francisco Giants, and especially basketball.

Mr. Albert will be a new English teacher this year at Schreiber. Having attended Adelphi and received his M.A. in English, Mr. Albert has taught at the State University's "cooperative college center program for the disadvantage," as well as Queens College and Nassau Community. In his spare time, he enjoys tennis and writing papers on Educational Reform.

Mrs. Ruth Finnerty has joined the Staff at Schreiber this year as our Latin teacher. She comes from Weber Junior High School where she taught Latin last year until the birth of her daughter, Bridget. She feels that "modular scheduling at Schreiber offers a more honest approach to education" and is pleased that "I don't have to stand up in the front of the classroom and teach at the student." Mrs. Finnerty was graduated from Creighton University in Nebraska and is now working on her Master's Degree in Latin at Fordham University.

Mr. Martin, who has a B.A. in Speech and Drama, and is currently working towards his masters degree, loves Schreiber for its great opportunity for students and teachers to learn. Mr. Martin spent his summer with the Clinton Summer Theater singing and dancing in summer stock. He may be recognized by many because of his role in the Dari-Lean Yogurt commercial. A director, singer, dancer, and actor are just some of his hobbies in addition to English.

Miss Elizabeth Forgione is beginning her first year teaching this fall after being graduated from Cortland State University in June 1970. In addition to her classes in Spanish Level 2, she is teaching a special course on "A Latin View of the United States." Miss Forgione's own special interest is travel, and she has been all over Europe and has lived in Spain.

A graduate of Adelphi University, Mr. Wantuch is a Math teacher. He was approached by the members of S.A.M., who have asked him to become their Faculty Advisor. Mr. Wantuch would like to organize a Schreiber Ski Club, in the near future. His other interests include: listening to music, swimming, and horseback riding.

If the name Mr. Pichkur rings a bell it is because he is a former student teacher at Schreiber. Mr. Pichkur earned a B.A. in Math Education at C.W. Post. He worked his way through college driving a truck and playing his guitar. Aside from math, Mr. Pichkur has musical interests ranging from rock to blues to jazz. Mr. Pichkur strongly believes that students can not perform any operations in class without complete justification of these operations.

Mrs. Levinton, a new addition to our math department, earned her B.A. from C.C.N.Y. and also has her M.A. She teaches geometry and Elementary Analysis at Schreiber. In addition to her love for math, Mrs. Levinton is very interested in modern dance. After getting settled at Schreiber, she hopes to become involved in the modern dance club.

GIRLS' FALL SPORTS

One club and three teams comprise the list of Girls' Sports for the fall season. The club is the fencing club and the teams are the Hockey, Track and Field, and Badminton teams. All girls may be on only one team but may belong to the club in addition to a team.

The fencing club is new to Schreiber this year. There are no tryouts; any girl may join. Absolutely no experience in fencing is necessary. The club meets on Monday and Wednesday afternoons. Eventually, the coach, Mrs. Krupskie, hopes for both varsity and junior varsity fencing teams.

Tryouts are now being held for varsity and junior varsity positions on the Hockey teams. The teams will play eight games four at home and four away. The first home game is scheduled for Thursday, October 7 at 3:00 against Hicksville.

The track and field team forecasts an undefeated season for the fall. The girls are working hard after school so they will be able to fulfill their hopes. The team will meet five schools; unfortunately all meets are away. The team's first meet is on October 4 at Hicksville.

The badminton team, consisting of twelve girls, is still not chosen. They will meet six different schools. Three of these games will be home and three will be away. Their first home game is on October 5 at 3:00 in the big gym. The team will play the Herricks High School Team.

COYA Registers 18-21 Voters

The Congress of Young Adults (C.O.Y.A.) is a nationwide group of aware and active young people who are hoping to reshape the political, economic, and social destiny of the country. C.O.Y.A. is one of the few political activist groups which is not in any way controlled by adults or the establishment. The Nassau County C.O.Y.A. is especially emphasizing the development of political awareness and involvement in the ten county poverty areas. Port Washington is the location of one of the most successful branches.

The Port Washington C.O.Y.A. group has already done a lot to help local young voters deal more effectively with the major institution of change in the country.

In late July C.O.Y.A. had a voter registration drive in Port. A fact sheet was sent to everyone 18-21 years old informing them of their chance to register and to vote and join a political party that weekend at the train station.

That weekend, and on several occasions since, C.O.Y.A. has assisted in the registration process, here and around the county, by reminding potential voters of the need to register, offering free transportation to those who need it, helping people to fill out registration forms and absentee ballots, and by answering many questions about the voting process. All totalled C.O.Y.A. assisted about 2,000 people in registering.

While working on voter registration, C.O.Y.A. has also been involved in voter education. About 1,000 people filled out C.O.Y.A. membership forms when they were registering. All of these people will receive non-partisan voter information on the candidates running in the November elections. Research on the candidates' voting records and their points of view on important issues has begun. Some of those who filled out applications will become active members and help create work on present and future projects.

The Port Washington branch of C.O.Y.A. needs aware young people. If you want to become active, send a note with your name and phone number to P.O. Box 926, Port Washington.

SOCCER BELOW POTENTIAL FOOTBALL MUST ADJUST

TO STIFFER COMPETITION

This year, the Port Washington soccer team appears to have one of their finest teams in recent years. After a hard summer of rigorous training, all signs lead towards a promising season. Led by a nucleus of returning veterans such as Tom Colonna, Bruce McCloskey, Joe Pedone, Lee Rinsky, Bob Quigley, Bernie Rulig and Bob Delaura, the prospect of a divisional playoff berth seems realistic.

However, Port has not been living up to its potential in preseason play. Against Jericho in Port's first scrimmage, Port won 1-0 but it was an unsatisfying victory for Jericho proved to be a very weak team. Against Roslyn, Port's playing improved but this time they came out on the short end of the score, 3-1. North Shore was Schreiber's next opponent. Port suffered a very disappointing setback when they dominated the game throughout but got one bad break and lost 1-0. The first Port Invitational Tournament accounted for the team's next two games. On Friday night, Sept. 17, Plainview Kennedy took on North Shore and Port Washington challenged Elmont. Port fell victim to a lack of offensive drive and a penalty kick called against them that permitted Elmont to score the first goal. Final score: Port-0, Elmont-2.

The next day, Port met North Shore in the consolation game. Port played its best game in revenging its earlier defeat at the hands of the North Shore club. Joe Bellafato scored after only eleven seconds had passed in the first quarter and from then on it was all downhill for North Shore. Before the game ended Joe Pedone had booted home a goal and Joe Bellafato had bagged another, making the final score 3-1.

Port's football team, following its distinguished tradition, is again a powerhouse on Long Island. Led by its highly successful overseer, Coach Biro, the team will have to contend with the far larger schools in North Shore 1; a much tougher brand of competition than Port has grown accustomed to in the past.

The current optimism for the oncoming season stems from Port's success in its preseason play. In two scrimmages against Valley Stream North and Carle Place, Port has dominated play throughout and shown strength in every aspect of football.

The offense that has been demonstrated thus far is superb. The backfield consists of Stan Plominski, Brad Kehlenbeck, and Mirno Pasquali at running backs and Mike Cannon and Jim Cosolito sharing the quarterbacking chores. The targets for passes will be amply provided for by the fleet-footed and sure-handed ends, Craig Murphy and Fran Turner. The offensive line is possibly Port's strongest point. Steve Laber, Andre Lobanoff, Ames Ressa, and Gary Binkiewicz are all proven players and can be counted on for solid blocking. On defense, the offensive line turns around and becomes one of the most feared and respected front fours in the league. Other defensive standouts have been Craig Murphy and Brad Kehlenbeck.

At this point, there is not one underclassman starting on either the offense or defense. In other words, this had better be Port's year because the future of Schreiber football is a dim one at best.

X-Country Builds Future

The cross-country outlook for this year seems to be one of building toward the future. Although only a few seniors are out for the team, there are many strong underclassmen who should provide the basis for some powerful Port contingents in the near future.

The runners that will be counted on the heaviest for this year's team are Jerry Casey, Tom McCann, Vince Chiapetta, and Rich Dissosway. However, a team is only as good as its depth so Rich Commons, Ed Barry, Marty Barry, Tom Denning, Barry Hoovis, Jim Polk, Kevin Jirak, and Charlie Magennis must produce in order to make Schreiber a winner.

GAA Invites Sophomores

The annual Sophomore Supper sponsored by the G.A.A. will be held on October 4, from 6:00-8:30 p.m. The purpose of the supper is to introduce all sophomore girls to the G.A.A. Board and Advisors. The function of the organization and all sports will be discussed. A buffet supper and various games have been planned. The officers are hoping that all sophomore girls will attend.

Gymnasts Make Debut

The members of Schreiber High School's first interscholastic gymnastics team are looking forward to the forthcoming season with an optimistic outlook. Despite the loss of last year's ace, Steve Posner, the team has great depth. Graham Wolfson is exceptional on the floor exercises and rings. Scott Warner does a fine job on the rings and parallel bars. Other outstanding gymnasts are Chris Bain on high bar and rings, Tom Sorrell on parallel bars and Bill Wagner on parallel bars. The team's first test is on October 18 - a victory would be very nice for the debut of a new Schreiber team.

Tennis:

Apprehension

As the Tennis team begins its season, so begins its road to the playoffs. Now in a new division, without the two Great Necks, the competition will be easier.

Along with established veterans such as Tom Rautenberg, Howie Barnet, Randy Pearl, Elliott Pecker, Joe Teitler, Mike Adelman, Mark Dissin, and Steve Lawrence, some new players will add depth and ability to the team. One of these new players is Donna Stockton, who was acquired from Garden City in the off-season. Other new players include: Ricky Futerman, Adrian Huang, and John Britton.

The "Racketeers" open their season on September 29 versus last year's division winner Herricks at home.

Mirno Pasquali launches long gain against Carle Place.
